Engine Description

The 550 series engines are indirect injection engines. The engines are controlled with a mechanically actuated fuel injection pump. The engine cylinders are arranged in-line.

The cylinder head assembly has one inlet valve and one exhaust valve for each cylinder. Each cylinder valve has a single valve spring.

The piston has two compression rings and an oil control ring. It is important to ensure the correct piston height so that the piston does not contact the cylinder head. The correct piston height also ensures efficient combustion of fuel that is necessary to deliver as much power as possible to the crankshaft.

The crankshaft for a two-cylinder engine has two main-bearing journals. The crankshaft for a three-cylinder engine has four main-bearing journals. The crankshaft for a four-cylinder engine has five main-bearing journals. And play is controlled by the thrust washers that are located on the main main-bearing
