Reward Management as a Part of Bonus Programs in B2C Markets Sebastian Grosser, 2006-09-11 Inhaltsangabe Abstract At the moment bonus programs are alone or in combination with other instruments one of the most successful and most often used marketing instruments in B2C markets to retain customers by giving them a bonus for loyal behaviour A typical bonus program of this kind is Payback The problem is that still there is little known about why customers participate in bonus programs and that especially the crucial aspect rewards management also bonus management is the blind spot of the marketing theory on hand On the background of high investments in bonus programs and their rewards on the one hand and unclear reasons for the different success of bonus sets on the other hand this is an unsatisfactory situation The target is therefore to show how bonus programs work and how rewards management is integrated in such a bonus program Furthermore it is the target to show how rewards management can contribute to program success how a rewards concept has to be set up and which possibilities e.g. type of reward there are for setting up a successful bonus set To reach this a compilation of the scattered but carefully selected information in marketing literature papers articles and further sources also from non economic ones like psychology a systematization of the findings and drawing of conclusions from this gives a clearer picture and helps to give recommendations for setting up a successful rewards management For backing up the findings the results of an especially therefore carried out online survey get used The decision to start with a bonus program must be based on the likeliness of the expected benefits that can be higher perceived product value customer satisfaction loyalty from that customer equity and company value and cost savings as well as additional sales and cross and up selling Of course these benefits are strongly influenced by the customer retention potential of the bonus program set up The customer retention can be influenced through bonus programs by both psychological causes e.g. satisfaction as well as by rewarding the customer for certain behaviour Because everybody can reward the customers the type of bonus reward is decisive The type of reward belongs to the burning mechanism of a bonus program In a token economy rewards can be redeemed for collected points artificial currency Points and point issuance rules are part of the earning mechanism and are closely linked The rewards are the A Lasting Reward Yissakhar properties of drugs depend on their capacity to activate appetitive motivational states. Because the mechanisms underlying natural reward are an important life sustaining process and strongly conserved throughout metazoan evolution, invertebrate models provide a powerful complement to the mammalian systems traditionally used in addiction research. A wide range of organizational complexity combined with genetically manipulable and relatively simple accessible nervous systems make invertebrates excellent models in which to explore general addiction principles. These include the role of natural reward systems in learning the basic biological mechanisms of drug addiction and the long term effects of early drug exposure. The contributions to this e-book illustrate the current state of invertebrate addiction research. The chapters show that the reward circuits of invertebrate taxa are surprisingly sensitive to human drugs of abuse. Employing learning paradigms typically used in vertebrate studies viz. conditioned place preference and operant self-administration paradigms, invertebrates are shown to exhibit aspects of the addiction cycle from activational effects of common psychostimulants, sensitization with repeated application to extinction, withdrawal and reinstatement. This highlights the value of the comparative approach for both exploring conserved mechanisms underlying drug addiction and the utility of invertebrate models in seeking potential solutions.

Cedric Chivers, Armistead Cay, 1897      The Holy Bible, in the Authorized Version Christopher Wordsworth, 1883      The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Religion Hephzibah Israel, 2022-12-19. The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Religion is the first to bring together an extensive interdisciplinary engagement with the multiple ways in which the concepts and practices of translation and religion intersect. The book engages a number of scholarly disciplines in conversation with each other including the study of translation and interpreting, religion, philosophy, anthropology, history, art history, and area studies. A range of leading and emerging international specialists critically engage with changing understandings of the key categories translation and religion as discursive constructs, thus contributing to the development of a new field of academic study translation and religion. The 28 contributions, divided into six parts, analyze how translation constructs ideas, texts, or objects as sacred or for religious purposes, often in competition with what is categorized as non-religious. The part played by faith communities is treated as integral to analyses of the role of translation and religion. It investigates how or why translation functions in re-constructing and transforming religions and for whom, and examines a range of sacred texts in translation from the written to the spoken, manuscript to print, paper to digital, architectural form to objects of sacred art, intersemiotic, scriptural texts, and where commentary, exegesis, and translation interweave. This Handbook is an indispensable scholarly resource for researchers in translation studies and the study of religions.
