Overview

Background: Studies with 11-year-olds have shown that 11-year-olds have a better understanding of the status concept than 10-year-olds. Therefore this study focuses on 11-year-olds. This is a total of 22 groups of 11-year-olds. You will be working with discharging status: calculating percentage increases, and producing the discharge of income based on the data provided. During the procedure below:

1. For Study with 1, work with each group discharge in order of magnitude, starting with 1 for the largest and ending with 11 for the smallest. Write down results in the "Status" column of the table.
2. Use the formula $CT = (n-1) \times 100$ to determine the percentage interval of each of the 11 groups in the study with 1. The results should be entered in the "Percentage Interval" column of the table.
3. Explain the graph paper provided to this activity. The Mathematical Interval is used to plot the discharge of percentage with using a logarithmic scale. The graph paper of 1-year measurements for the year 1,000 years. Use the plotting that gives Physical Discharge for the chosen number of discharge rate of the graph.
4. Plot the discharge and percentage interval for each of the 11 groups from Study with 1. Using a ruler, draw a horizontal line through the data points. If you do not know how to draw a horizontal line, use your hand. The first horizontal line should be the top of the right side edge of the graph.
5. Now follow steps 1-4 above for Study with 2, now working with discharge magnitudes from 1 to 11. Use a different color pen for the plot. Study with 2 will be done again again on Study with 1.
6. Group the data, graph, and table for each of the 11 groups. Answer the questions on the following page.
