Sources of Knowledge and Entrepreneurial Behavior delves into the nature and importance of the relationship between sources of knowledge and entrepreneurial behavior and should be of interest to both academics and policy makers David B Audretsch and Albert N Link use the Knowledge Spillover Theory of Entrepreneurship as the conceptual foundation for why individuals decide to become entrepreneurs Then using a database of more than 4 000 small and relatively new European companies from 10 different countries called the AEGIS database Audretsch and Link offer new insights about the relationship between knowledge sources and entrepreneurial behavior In their analysis of the empirical evidence in support of the Knowledge Spillover Theory of Entrepreneurship Audretsch and Link conclude that there is no singular source of knowledge driving entrepreneurship but a plethora of knowledge sources each associated with different dimensions of entrepreneurial activity The intellectual breakthrough in this book is not that knowledge matters or that it especially matters for entrepreneurship Rather Audretsch and Link show that knowledge and especially entrepreneurial knowledge is not a homogeneous phenomenon There are multiple sources of knowledge that act on entrepreneurial performance in a myriad of ways Making Sense of the Learning Turn Anders Örtengren, 2024-05-09 From learning toy and learning society to learning city and learning organization what is meant by learning The main focus of this volume is to increase our understanding of the learning turn referring in this book to the frequent occurrence and usage of terms in the last few decades where the word learning is the premodifier The authors also offer insights into the use of the word learning as a premodifier in the future and discuss what if anything may replace it such as knowledge as in knowledge management and smart as in smart city An extensive range of academic disciplines are covered including political science economics human geography philosophy linguistics higher education working life science management and organization and marketing While a single overall unified conclusion is not provided Making Sense of the Learning Turn presents a variety of voices and perspectives Some contributors are critical towards the learning turn explaining it in terms of fashion following manipulation and seduction Others interpret the learning turn more lightly or suggest a more collective form of learning as an alternative to the individualization of learning that some authors argue has been the case thus far The Evolutionary Complexity of Endogenous Innovation Cristiano Antonelli, The notion of endogenous innovation as the outcome of the creative response of firms to out of equilibrium conditions is the cornerstone of the new evolutionary complexity This book elaborates and applies the theoretical framework established in the author's previous work Endogenous Innovation The Economics of an Emergent System Property This volume carefully explores the role of the reactivity of firms to out of equilibrium conditions It also examines the quality of knowledge governance mechanisms in assessing the levels of externalities that define the likelihood of creative responses as an alternative to adaptive responses
