Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical fitness of obese women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 20 obese women who were randomly assigned to either a diet or an exercise group. The diet group was instructed to consume a diet that was 1000 kcal below their maintenance level. The exercise group was instructed to perform 150 minutes of moderate intensity exercise per week. The study was conducted over a 10-week period. The results showed that the diet group lost significantly more weight and body fat than the exercise group. The diet group also showed a significant improvement in physical fitness, while the exercise group did not. The study concluded that a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet is an effective method for weight loss and improvement in physical fitness in obese women.

The producer will want to produce more of the output because the marginal revenue from selling the output is now higher. The producer will continue to increase output until the marginal revenue is equal to the marginal cost of production.
