Novel Medicine demonstrates how fiction incorporated created and disseminated medical knowledge in China beginning in the sixteenth century Critical readings of fictional and medical texts provide a counterpoint to prevailing narratives that focus only on the literati aspects of the novel showing that these texts were not merely read but were used by a wide variety of readers for a range of purposes The intersection of knowledge fictional and real elite and vernacular illuminates the history of reading and daily life and challenges us to rethink the nature of Chinese literature The Broadview Anthology of the Enlightenment and the Gothic fascination with the unknown reflects the Enlightenment s response to the limits of reason Traditionally the emblem of the unknown that lurks in the Gothic is the supernatural the monstrous and the inhuman Often overlooked is the observation that Gothic texts are also haunted by figures that represent the mystery of sexuality This collection of essays sharpens that observation and asserts that Gothic anxieties about sexuality are likewise rooted in fear of the unknown represented by sexual practices and desires that either lie hidden or deviate from cultural norms The first three sections refer to popular as well as marginalized Gothic texts to portray the three prototypes of sexual deviance the female sexual Other in The Fatal Woman the male sexual Other in The Satanic Male and the homosexual Other in Homosexual Horror The fourth section covers literary works that celebrate sexual difference and question the idea that the sexually

Desire and Domestic Fiction Nancy Armstrong, 1987-05-07 Desire and Domestic Fiction argues that far from being removed from historical events novels by writers from Richardson to Woolf were themselves agents of the rise of the middle class Drawing on texts that range from 18th century female conduct books and contract theory to modern psychoanalytic case histories and theories of reading Armstrong shows that the emergence of a particular form of female subjectivity capable of reigning over the household paved the way for the establishment of institutions which today are accepted centers of political power Neither passive subjects nor embattled rebels the middle class women who were authors and subjects of the major tradition of British fiction were among the forgers of a new form of power that worked in and through their writing to replace prevailing notions of identity with a gender determined subjectivity She also examines the works of such novelists as Richardson Jane Austen and the Brontës to reveal the ways in which these authors rewrite the domestic practices and sexual relations of the past to create the historical context through which modern institutional power would seem not only natural but also humane and therefore to be desired

The Lure of the Modern Shumei Shi, 2001-04-20 Quite apart from her contributions as a literary critic Shu mei Shih is able to historicize literary developments of the period most persuasively Her analysis of Shanghai the city and the literary movement it spawned is crafted with great sensitivity to both history and literature In many ways it is the most inclusive historical study of modern Chinese literature in its formative period Prasenjit Duara author of Rescuing History from the Nation Tracing the spectral production of Chinese identity as it is disseminated globally Shih boldly moves away from using place ethnicity and the body race to anchor Chinese identity to argue that the visual film and the verbal language and linguistics are the most salient ones in the modern and contemporary historical formation She succeeds brilliantly David Palumbo Liu author of Asian American Historical Crossings of a Racial Frontier This is the most thoroughly researched study of Chinese modernism published to date The author's theoretical interventions greatly enrich our understanding of colonial modernity and the stakes of comparison in cross cultural studies The book is a major contribution to modern Chinese literary studies and comparative literature Lydia Liu editor of Tokens of Exchange

Rooney Custom Text: ENGL 2302A: Literature and Cultures, 1500-1700 Version 2 Broadview Custom Texts, 2024-03-18 This is a Broadview Custom Text created for students in Professor Morgan Rooney's ENGL 2302A Literature and Cultures 1500-1700 course at Carleton University History of Psychiatry and Medical Psychology Edwin R. Wallace, John Gach, 2010-04-13 Most of the prefatory issues are extensively elaborated upon in the Prolegomenon which also contains the complete references to the texts and authors discussed below Nevertheless the Preface would be grossly incomplete without touching on some of these issues books and scholars Too many of this book's chapters e.g. Mora's Marx's D.B. Weiner's examine and reference important earlier as well as contemporary general histories of psychiatry and specialized monographs in German French Italian and Spanish Also in his 1968 Short History of Psychiatry discussed below Ackerknecht pp. xi-xii references important nineteenth and earlier twentieth century psychiatric histories in English French and German Such citations will of course not be repeated here Finally thanks to several publishers re-editions of dozens of classical psychiatric texts one can consult their bibliographies as well See Prolegomenon for references to these splendid series In a rough and ready sense medical history began in classical Greece for example On Ancient Medicine While traditionally included in the Hippocratic corpus this text seems more likely to have been written by a non or even anti-Hippocratic doctor Moreover the Hippocratic and other schools were hardly as secular as we now suppose On Epilepsy for example does not so much declare the prevalent denotation of it as the sacred disease erroneous as it does that it is no more nor less sacred than any other disease
