

Laboratory: Human Population Growth

Mrs. Côté

Answer Key

Enviro. Science 120

Pre Lab Work:

Before beginning this laboratory, answer the following questions on your own piece of paper in your notebook:

- Define the following terms:
 - growth rate – describes how fast a population is increasing or decreasing and is dependent upon the birth rate and death rate
 - birthrate – is the number of infants born in a given year/1000 people in the population
 - death rate – is the number of people who die in a given year/1000 individuals in the population
 - zero population growth – when the population is in equilibrium or the number of births and deaths are equal
 - developed country – countries that highly developed economy and advanced technology
 - developing country – countries that are considered to have low standard of living, and undeveloped industrially
 - demographic transition – refers to the transition from high birth and death rates to low birth and death rates
- What is a population explosion? How quickly is our population growing each year? What about each day?
A population explosion is when a population lacks limited resources so is able to grow out of control. The human population is grows about 80 million a year and 219, 178 each day.
- How is the growth rate of the human population calculated?
 $\text{Growth rate} = \text{birth rate} - \text{death rate}$
- What causes a negative population growth? What causes a positive population growth?
Negative population growth occurs when the birth rate is less than the death rate
Positive population growth occurs when the birth rate exceeds the death rate
- Why do the two graphs appear to have a different shape?
The population growth rate was much slower in the earlier years. The J-curve shows exponential population growth and the graphs are not drawn to the same scale.
- Using a piece of paper, create the following charts:

Country	Birthrate (%)	Death rate (%)	Population Growth 2005	Population Growth 2050	Demographic Transition	Relative Place in Transition	Sketch graph showing Blue & Pink Line
USA	2.06	0.51	0.92	-0.06	1.55	5

Calculus Roberto Smith, Schor, (Schor) Schor, 1995-01-02 Statistical Computation for Environmental Sciences in R James S. Clark, 2007-06-03 The environmental sciences are undergoing a revolution in the use of models and data Facing ecological data sets of unprecedented size and complexity environmental scientists are struggling to understand and exploit powerful new statistical tools for making sense of ecological processes In Models for Ecological Data James Clark introduces ecologists to these modern methods in modeling and computation Assuming only basic courses in calculus and statistics the text introduces readers to basic maximum likelihood and then works up to more advanced topics in Bayesian modeling and computation Clark covers both classical statistical approaches and powerful new computational tools and describes how complexity can motivate a shift from classical to Bayesian methods Through an available lab manual the book introduces readers to the practical work of data modeling and computation in the language R Based on a successful course at Duke University and National Science Foundation funded institutes on hierarchical modeling Models for Ecological Data will enable ecologists and other environmental scientists to develop useful models that make sense of ecological data Consistent treatment from classical to modern Bayes Underlying distribution theory to algorithm development Many examples and applications Does not assume statistical background Extensive supporting appendixes Accompanying lab manual in R

Theoretical Ecology Ryan Chisholm, 2025-09-09 An accessible and wide ranging introduction to the concepts and tools of theoretical ecology Theoretical ecology explores the mechanisms that structure ecological communities using a variety of mathematical and computational tools Theoretical Ecology shows you how to translate ecological problems into mechanistic models using both mathematics and the programming language R The book teaches key concepts and core quantitative skills while also devoting significant attention to the reasons for building mathematical ecological models Why do species populations fluctuate over time and space How do multiple species coexist What forces drive nutrient and carbon cycles Does higher species diversity lead to higher biomass Each chapter in this incisive and informative book is motivated by questions like these and every chapter includes boxes that delve into mathematical details and provide coding examples in R Focuses on mathematical and computational methods while also drawing on conceptual and graphical approaches and explores how the various approaches complement one another Teaches students the skills they need to implement and analyze ecological models in R Covers topics ranging from single species competition and predator prey models to community ecology island biogeography and nutrient flux models Provides exercises of graduated difficulty at the end of every chapter Ideal for advanced undergraduate and graduate classrooms and for independent study Includes a road map for class planning and self study are important to retain in the design of mathematical tasks in computing environments The use of white smart boards platforms as Moodle tablets and smartphones have transformed the way we communicate both inside and outside the mathematics classroom Therefore the second section discussed how to make efficient use of these resources in the classroom and beyond The third section addresses how technology modifies the way information is transmitted and how mathematical education has to take into account the new ways of learning through connected networks as well as new ways of teaching The last section is on the training of teachers in the digital era The editors of this volume have selected papers from the proceedings of the 65th 66th and 67th CIEAEM conference and invited the correspondent authors to contribute to this volume by discussing one of the four important topics The book continues a series of sourcebooks edited by CIEAEM the Commission Internationale pour l'étude et l'amélioration de l'Enseignement des Mathématiques International Commission for the Study and Improvement of Mathematics Education Inquiry: The Key to Exemplary Science Robert Yager, 2009-06-17
