International Finance Corporation, 2018-12-05 The world's population is expected to reach 9.8 billion in 2050. Meanwhile, concurrent rises in incomes and urbanization are driving increased consumption of meat dairy and biofuels. Meeting the demand for food feed and biofuel will require a global production increase of almost 50 percent relative to 2012. Production in South Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa where 95 percent of farms are smaller than five hectares must double at a minimum. A key element of policies to increase food production will be promoting improved food quality as the health costs of too much too little and the wrong types of food become increasingly evident. Additional initiatives must address how to reduce food losses globally one third of food production is lost or wasted at different stages in the food chain each year. Climate change is bringing further stressors. These challenges also present opportunities. Around the world 450 million smallholder farmers are plagued by low productivity and poor access to inputs technology knowledge financing and markets. Agribusinesses are increasingly working directly with smallholder farmers in low and middle income countries to help secure a sustainable supply of key agricultural commodities while boosting rural incomes and economic growth. Sourcing directly from smallholders can expand a firm's supply base reduce margins paid to collectors and middlemen facilitate improvements in quality and yield and deliver premium prices for a certified fair trade or sustainably produced product. Smallholders also represent a growing market for farm inputs information and financial services. Agribusiness firms can help smallholders to increase productivity and improve crop quality access know how to mitigate social and environmental impacts develop farm management skills and combine their production with other farmers to achieve sufficient scale to be effective market players and meet the growing demand for safe sustainable food by improving practices and introducing traceability and certification.

systems Working with Smallholders A Handbook for Firms Building Sustainable Supply Chains shows how agribusinesses can develop more sustainable resilient and productive supply chains and illustrate the substantial impact of doing so on development The book compiles innovative solutions and cutting edge ideas to meet the challenges and it incorporates a diverse collection of hands on case studies from across the world that cover a variety of agribusiness sectors This second edition builds on the lessons learned and provides updates in leading trends and technologies from those provided in the first edition published in 2014      Field Artillery ,2005-05      Team Teaching and Flexible Scheduling for Tomorrow ,
