Collaborative Screenwriting and Story Development Marc Handler,2023-12-05 This is a comprehensive guide to teach writing and story development from a collaborative global perspective This book teaches writers how to take full advantage of emerging opportunities both locally and globally With an increasing number of international co productions and many screenwriters now working collaboratively in writers rooms and development groups author Marc Handler explains how to work cooperatively with others to break stories plan seasons create characters and build series To succeed readers will learn how to give and receive feedback effectively adapt to the style and constraints of executives and brands and contribute to the team building process all within an increasingly global media industry that is in constant flux This book will help readers develop a global perspective ensuring that they are prepared for new opportunities as they arise Marc Handler provides cultural insight and understanding as he describes the fundamentals as well as advanced story skills This book is essential reading for students taking classes such as Screenwriting Fundamentals Writing for Film and TV Introduction to Television Writing and Advanced Screenwriting as well as aspiring and early career screenwriters showrunners producers and creative executives Topic, Focus and Foreground in Ancient Hebrew Narratives Jean-Marc Heimerdinger,1999-08-01 This study breaks new ground in describing how various linguistic and pragmatic mechanisms affect both the form of the narrative clause and the arrangement of the grammatical elements The various possible forms that a narrative clause can take are classified in terms of their topic comment and focus presupposition and it is argued that the way in which these are articulated dictates the word order in the clause The outcome of the study demonstrates that the traditional binary distinction between foreground and background based purely on verb forms is inadequate A new model is offered showing how foregrounding is achieved by exploiting cognitive structures or by using specific evaluative devices Science Fiction Prototyping Brian David Johnson, 2011-02-02 Science fiction is the playground of the imagination. If you are interested in science or fascinated with the future, then science fiction is where you explore new ideas and let your dreams and nightmares duke it out on the safety of the page or screen. But what if we could use science fiction to do more than that? What if we could use science fiction based on science fact to not only imagine our future but develop new technologies and products? What if we could use stories, movies, and comics as a kind of tool to explore the real world implications and uses of future technologies today? Science Fiction Prototyping is a practical guide to using fiction as a way to imagine our future in a whole new way. Filled with history, real world examples, and conversations with experts like best-selling science fiction author Cory Doctorow, senior editor at Dark Horse Comics Chris Warner, and Hollywood science expert Sidney Perkowitz, Science Fiction Prototyping will give you the tools you need to begin designing the future with science fiction. The future is Brian David Johnson's business. As a futurist at Intel Corporation, his charter is to develop an actionable vision for computing in 2021. His work is called future casting, using ethnographic field studies, technology research, trend data, and even science fiction to create a pragmatic vision of consumers and computing. Johnson has been pioneering development in artificial intelligence, robotics, and reinventing TV. He speaks and writes extensively about future technologies in articles and scientific papers as well as science fiction short stories and novels: Fake Plastic Love and Screen Future: The Future of Entertainment Computing and the Devices We Love. He has directed two feature films and is an illustrator and commissioned painter.
