Oeil Sur La Photographie Dart:

L'image et le regard : les Cévennes et la photographie (1870-1930) Jean-Noël Pelen, Daniel

Travier, 1993-01-01 T00:00:00+01:00 Autour des années 1865-1870 la photographie pénètre en Cévennes. Elle est le fait au début de quelques itinérants puis de professionnels de studio installés dans les villes privilégiées qui travaillent alors pour les classes aisées et dans le seul domaine du portrait. L'apparition vers 1890 de photographes amateurs issus de la bourgeoisie locale ouvre le champ d'investigation aux scènes de la vie familiale et villageoise que l'avènement de la carte postale partit de 1900 et pendant les trente premières années du siècle largira aux multiples aspects de la vie quotidienne. Ce livre parce qu'il tente de prendre en compte l'ensemble de la production photographique touchant aux Cévennes sur un demi-siècle constitue un large panorama des activités humaines saisies dans cet espace et cette société. Mais il ne saurait se réduire à un album d'images du temps passé. L'image et le regard vont bien au-delà s'interrogeant sur cette production mais aussi sur le sens même de la photographie en tant que fait historique et culturel et sur celui des différents thèmes qu'elle aborde : portraits, photos de famille, de quartier ou de village, événements ou de paysages, représentation des identités rurales villageoises, etc. Car la photographie n'est pas neutre : elle procède de plusieurs regards : celui du photographe mais aussi celui du sujet et celui de la société, celui enfin de l'observateur présent ou venant. Et pour nous derrière ces images fixes par l'objectif derrière cette lecture de la vie d'une communauté, de son histoire et de ses tensions sous le miroir poli ne s'agit-il pas enfin de saisir le grondement même du temps ? La documentation rassemblant quelque cinq cents clichés inédits et cartes postales souvent peu connues compose un ensemble exceptionnel parfaitement représentatif de la période et du territoire considérés ensemble complété par un index de cent cinquante photographes et d'ouvrages ayant trait aux Cévennes. La description et l'analyse de ce corpus photographique valent autant pour l'histoire de la photographie que pour celle des Cévennes. L'Oeil, revue d'art, 2008

Jean-Claude Chirollet, 2014-10-06 Les arts de toute catégorie : peinture, sculpture, installations in situ, architecture, arts du spectacle vivant sont omniprésents sur Internet. Les œuvres sont visibles en très haute définition, parfois même en milliards de pixels jusqu'au moindre détail. Or la démocratisation intensive de tous les arts entraîne des évolutions profondes de la perception esthétique qui sont des formes inédites d'anachronismes de la vision des œuvres. Les technologies de la médiation culturelle des musées : crans, gants et interfaces interactives, applications audiovisuelles pour smartphones et tablettes, multimedias, impression 3D, édition logicielle des images d'art ou entre autres la reproduction digitale, l'identité des tableaux ou des sculptures au moyen d'imprimantes 3D induisent de multiples anachronismes de notre vision moderne des arts. Que voyons-nous de l'art d'aujourd'hui travers l'œil digital qui s'en est emparé ? Passionnante, instructive au plus près de l'actualité, l'étude de Jean-Claude Chirollet interpellera coup sur coup les historiens de l'art, les plasticiens, les philosophes, les conservateurs de musées, chargés de politique culturelle, les bibliothécaires et documentalistes d'art, les étudiants en écoles d'art, les demandeurs de ce
