with state and private luxury goods manufacturers between 1848 and 1895 Organised chronologically the book identifies three historically situated frameworks through which sculptors attempted to validate themselves and their work in relation to industry industrial art decorative art and objet d art Detailed readings are offered of sculptors who operated within and outside the Salon including S n Ch t Carrier Belleuse and Rodin and of diverse objects and materials from S es vases to pewter plates by Desbois and furniture by Barbedienne and Carabin By contesting the false separation of art from industry Claire Jones s study restores the importance of the sculptor manufacturer relationship and of the decorative to the history of sculpture

The Central Liberal Truth Lawrence E. Harrison, 2008-07-08 Which cultural values beliefs and attitudes best promote democracy social justice and prosperity How can we use the forces that shape cultural change such as religion education and political leadership to promote these values in the Third World and for underachieving minorities in the First World In this book Lawrence E Harrison offers intriguing answers to these questions in a valuable follow up to his acclaimed Culture Matters Drawing on a three year research project that explored the cultural values of dozens of nations from Botswana Sweden and India to China Egypt and Chile Harrison offers a provocative look at values around the globe revealing how each nation s culture has propelled or retarded their political and economic progress The book presents 25 factors that operate very differently in cultures prone to progress and those that resist it including one s influence over destiny the importance attached to education the extent to which people identify with and trust others and the role of women in society Harrison pulls no punches and many of his findings are controversial Contradicting the arguments of multiculturalists this book contends that when it comes to promoting human progress some cultures are clearly more effective than others It convincingly shows which values beliefs and attitudes work and how we can foster them Harrison takes up the question that is at the center of politics today Can we self consciously change cultures so they encourage development and modernization David Brooks New York Times I can think of no better entrance to the topic both for what it teaches and the way it invites and prepares the reader to continue A gateway study David S Landes author of The Wealth and Poverty of Nations

L'Oeuvre de Rodin [et Grasset Auguste Rodin, Camille Mauclair, 1900* "Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830?914 " Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2017-07-05 Providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary assessment and with a particular focus on expressions of tension and anxiety about modernity this collection examines visual culture in nineteenth century Europe as it attempted to redefine itself in the face of social change and new technologies Contributing scholars from the fields of history art literature and the history of science investigate the role of visual representation and the dominance of the image by looking at changing ideas expressed in representations of science technology politics and culture in advertising art periodicals and novels They investigate how during the period new emphasis was placed on the visual with emerging forms of mass communication photography lithography newspapers advertising and cinema while older forms as varied as poetry the novel painting interior decoration and architecture became transformed The volume includes investigations into new innovations and scientific development such as the steam engine transportation and engineering the microscope spirit photography and the orrery as well as how this new technology is reproduced in illustrated periodicals The essays also look at more traditional forms of creative expression to show that the same concerns and anxieties about science technology and the changing perceptions of the natural world can be seen in the art of Armand Guillaumin Auguste Rodin Gustave Caillebotte and Camille Pissarro in colonial nineteenth century novels in design manuals in museums and in the decorations of domestic interior spaces Visions of the Industrial Age 1830 1914 offers a thorough exploration of both the nature of modernity and the nature of the visual

Rodin in His Time Los Angeles County Museum of Art, Mary L. Levkoff, 2000 The sculpture of Auguste Rodin has become such an important part of our visual culture that it seems to have been with us always The universal appeal of Rodin's work springs from its emotional expressiveness its astonishingly lifelike vitality and its passionate mirroring of the human condition With his impressionistic technique supported by a complete mastery of anatomical structure Rodin overthrew the reigning academic precepts of finish and symmetry By developing subjects beyond traditional allegories he pointed the way to sheer abstraction in the twentieth century This handsomely illustrated catalogue publishes for the first time in its entirety a major American collection of sculpture the Cantor gifts to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and provides a rich context for Rodin's own work It presents sculpture by Rodin's most important nineteenth century forerunners Jean Baptiste Carpeaux Albert Ernest Carrier Belleuse François Rude and others as well as work by the contemporaries he admired those with whom he competed those he influenced and those who moved from his orbit to develop their own styles at the dawn of the twentieth century But the centerpiece of the book remains Rodin forty two works by the most influential sculptor of the modern period all specially photographed and many shown in multiple views Publisher description

Translation and the Arts in Modern France Sonya Stephens, 2017-07-10 Translation and the Arts in Modern France sits at the intersection of transposition translation and ekphrasis finding resonances in these areas across periods places and forms Within these contributions questions of colonization subjugation migration and exile connect Benin to Brittany and political philosophy to the sentimental novel and to film Focusing on cultural production from 1830 to the present and privileging French culture the contributors explore interactions with other cultures countries and continents often explicitly equating intercultural permeability with representational exchange In doing so the book exposes the extent to which moving between media and codes the very process of translation and transposition is a defining aspect of creativity across time space and disciplines
