Gluten-Free Food Science and Technology Eimear Gallagher, 2009-09-08 Coeliac disease (CD) and other allergic reactions/intolerances to gluten are on the rise, largely due to improved diagnostic procedures and changes in eating habits. However, the removal of gluten presents major problems for bakers. Currently many gluten free products on the market are of low quality and short shelf life, exhibiting poor mouthfeel and flavour. This challenge to the cereal technologist and baker alike has led to the search for alternatives to gluten in the manufacture of gluten free bakery products This volume provides an overview for the food industry of issues related to the increasing prevalence of coeliac disease and gluten intolerance The properties of gluten are discussed in relation to its classification and important functional characteristics and the nutritional value of gluten free products is also addressed The book examines the diversity of ingredients that can be used to replace gluten and how the ingredient combinations and subsequent rheological and manufacturing properties of a range of gluten free products e g doughs breads biscuits and beer may be manipulated Recommendations are given regarding the most suitable ingredients for different gluten free products The book is directed at ingredient manufacturers bakers cereal scientists and coeliac associations and societies It will also be of interest to academic food science departments for assisting with undergraduate studies and postgraduate research The Author Dr Eimear Gallagher Ashtown Food Research Centre Teagasc The Irish Agriculture and Food Development Authority Dublin Ireland Also available from Wiley Blackwell Management of Food Allergens Edited by J Coutts and R Fielder ISBN 9781405167581 Bakery Manufacture and Quality Water Control and Effects Second Edition S Cauvain and L Young ISBN 9781405176132 Whole Grains and Health Edited by L Marquart et al ISBN 9780813807775

Technology of Breadmaking Stanley P. Cauvain,Linda S. Young,2013-11-09 Not another book on breadmaking A forgivable reaction given the length of time over which bread has been made and the number of texts which have been written about the subject To study breadmaking is to realize that like many other food processes it is constantly changing as processing methodologies become increasingly more sophisticated yet at the same time we realize that we are dealing with a food stuff the forms of which are very traditional We can for example look at ancient illustrations of breads in manuscripts and paintings and recognize products which we still make today This contrast of ancient and modern embodied in a single processed foodstuff is part of what makes bread such a unique subject for study We cannot for example say the same for a can of baked beans Another aspect of the uniqueness of breadmaking lies in the requirement for a thorough understanding of the link between raw materials and processing methods in order to make an edible product This is mainly true because of the special properties of wheat proteins aspects of which are explored in most of the chapters of this book Wheat is a product of the natural environment and while breeding and farming practices can modify aspects of wheat quality we millers and bakers still have to respond to the strong influences of the environment The Country Kitchen Cook Book ,1922
