Program Guide Univision:

Contemporary Latina/o Media Arlene Dávila, Yeidy M. Rivero, 2014-09-12 The cultural politics creating and consuming Latina o mass media Just ten years ago discussions of Latina o media could be safely reduced to a handful of TV channels dominated by Univision and Telemundo Today dramatic changes in the global political economy have resulted in an unprecedented rise in major new media ventures for Latinos as everyone seems to want a piece of the Latina o media market While current scholarship on Latina o media have mostly revolved around important issues of representation and stereotypes this approach does not provide the entire story In Contemporary Latina o Media Arlene D vila and Yeidy M Rivero bring together an impressive range of leading scholars to move beyond analyses of media representations going behind the scenes to explore issues of production circulation consumption and political economy that affect Latina o mass media Working across the disciplines of Latina o media cultural studies and communication the contributors examine how Latinos are being affected both by the continued Latin Americanization of genres products and audiences as well as by the whitewashing of mainstream Hollywood media where Latinos have been consistently bypassed While focusing on Spanish language television and radio the essays also touch on the state of Latinos in prime time television and in digital and alternative media Using a transnational approach the volume as a whole explores the ownership importation and circulation of talent and content from Latin America placing the dynamics of the global political economy and cultural politics in the foreground of contemporary analysis of Latina o media

How To Watch

Television Ethan Thompson, Jason Mittell, 2013-09-16 Examines social and cultural phenomena through the lens of different television shows We all have opinions about the television shows we watch but television criticism is about much more than simply evaluating the merits of a particular show and deeming it good or bad Rather criticism uses the close examination of a television program to explore that program's cultural significance creative strategies and its place in a broader social context How to Watch Television brings together forty original essays from today's leading scholars on television culture writing about the programs they care and think the most about Each essay focuses on a particular television show demonstrating one way to read the program and through it our media culture The essays model how to practice media criticism in accessible language providing critical insights through analysis suggesting a way of looking at TV that students and interested viewers might emulate The contributors discuss a wide range of television programs past and present covering many formats and genres spanning fiction and non fiction broadcast and cable providing a broad representation of the programs that are likely to be covered in a media studies course While the book primarily focuses on American television important programs with international origins and transnational circulation are also covered Addressing television series from the medium's earliest days to contemporary online transformations of television How to Watch Television is designed to engender classroom discussion among television critics of all backgrounds

Cuban Americans and the Miami Media

Christine Lohmeier, 2014-02-10 This book makes a contribution to the debates on diasporic identities and transnational communication It provides an analysis of the Cuban American community and its relationship to Miami based English and Spanish language media Based on extensive ethnographic data the author demonstrates how different media have been used produced and influenced by segments of the Cuban American community in Miami After establishing the significance of Miami as a locale to receive a high number of migrants after the Cuban revolution in 1959 what follows is an exploration of the interplay of collective Cuban American identity and the evolution of an exile community on the one hand and media institutions and their output on the other In doing so Miami based press radio network television and online media are examined The author moreover shows how mediated memories of pre revolutionary Cuba have been kept alive in Miami and over time became more inclusive through the use of new media technologies Sex in Consumer Culture Tom Reichert, Jacqueline
