

Laboratory Activity #1 — Student Laboratory Packet

Relationships and Biodiversity*A Laboratory Activity for the Living EnvironmentIntroduction

Botana curus is a valuable plant because it produces Curol, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curol cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botana curus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide Curol in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botana curus are more likely to produce the important substance Curol. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) may be related to Botana curus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species, Botana curus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance Curol

Safety

- You will need to wear goggles while conducting Tests 4 and 5.
- Do not eat or drink anything in the laboratory while doing this laboratory activity.

Important Note: Record all of your data and answers on these laboratory sheets. You will need to keep them for review before the Regents Examination. Later, you will need to transfer your answers to a separate Student Answer Packet. Your teacher will use the packet in grading your work, and the school will retain it as evidence of your completion of the laboratory requirement for the Living Environment Regents Examination.

Structural Evidence for Relationships

Perform the following tests and record your observations in Table 1 on page 8 of this packet. Use a hand lens or microscope as needed.

Test 1-Structural Characteristics of Plants

- Do not remove the plant samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the plant samples. Record your observations in Table 1 (see page 8).

Test 2-Structural Characteristics of Seeds

- Do not remove the seed samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the seed samples. Record your observations in Table 1.

"Relationships and Biodiversity" is a laboratory activity produced by the State Education Department for use in fulfilling part of the laboratory requirement for the Regents Examination in Living Environment. Reproducing any part of this laboratory activity by other than New York State school personnel is illegal.

The Ecology of the New Economy Jacob Park,Nigel Roome,2017-09-08 A revolution is taking place in the development of global information and communications technologies In slightly more than a decade the World Wide Web has gone from the idea of an obscure English scientist to a consumer oriented technology system with an expected one billion users by 2005 The technologies that enable this to happen are advancing rapidly which is leading to both an unprecedented number of start up companies and a host of innovative new alliances between companies The growth has been so rapid and unexpected that little research and analysis has yet been done on what impact this transformation has had or will have on the ability of companies to meet the global sustainability challenge As environmental strategy has traditionally been portrayed in terms of risk cutting and resource efficiency there is a danger that critical business issues such as information technology R D and e commerce development are examined in isolation from the wider sustainable business perspective An important objective of the book is to explore document and raise awareness of sustainability concerns arising from the emerging global information economy The information economy is defined in the broadest sense possible including software hardware telecommunication traditional and wireless and advanced communication technologies Some of the key issues and questions that are examined include Case studies on how and to what degree sustainability concerns are being integrated into the business model of electronic telecommunication and dot com firms The relationship between the diffusion of information and communication technologies and the energy and resource intensity of companies The role of information and communication technologies in the shaping of policies for sustainability its impacts on sustainable or unsustainable lifestyles and its implications for the interaction between companies and other actors Corporations and the global digital divide The Ecology of the New Economy will be of interest to academics governments businesses and non governmental groups who are trying to understand the linkages and relationship between the two of our greatest global challenges the information revolution and environmental sustainability

Creating Strategic Partnerships Marilyn J. Amey,Pamela L. Eddy,2023-07-03 What are the characteristics and conditions that lead to successful educational partnerships What can we learn from partnerships that fail cannot be sustained over time or cease to benefit their partners This book serves as a guide to the successful implementation of partnerships It provides the context and tools for readers who are responding to the increasing demands of policy makers funders and institutional leaders to use partnerships to address local state and federal issues achieve external mandates meet public or internal agendas or pursue international collaborations This guide provides an evidence based framework for institutional and organizational leaders to develop the vision shared values and norms to achieve the partnership capital that will sustain an enduring relationship It offers a three phase model of the development process of collaboration together with a tool box for those charged with partnering and leading organizational change and includes a template for both creating new partnerships and sustaining existing ones The authors start by differentiating between traditional often ad hoc partnerships and strategic partnerships that align organizational strategy with partnership actions and by identifying the importance of moving beyond incremental or surface first order change to develop deep second order change through which underlying structures and operations are questioned and new processes emerge due to the partnership They offer analyses and understandings of seven key components for success exploring motivations developing partner relationships communicating and framing purpose creating collaborative structures and resources leading various partnership stages generating partnership capital and implementing strategies for sustaining partnerships Each chapter concludes with a case study to provide more understanding of the ideas presented and for use in training or classes This guide is addressed to policy makers and educational leaders college administrators and their non profit and business partners to enable them to lead and create strategic partnerships and facilitate organizational change
