

7.5. Inequalities Due to Admission Policy and Subject Specialization

The implementation of the 8-4-4 system of education in Kenya in 1981 under the President Moi regime was supposed to be a harbinger of increased access to HE by students given its broad curricula. It replaced the former system of education (the 7-4-2-3) which was accused of being mostly academic and only trained students for white collar jobs. Kenya being mostly an agricultural economy, majority of the students graduating from the education system became jobless for lack of practical skills. The Prof Mackay led Commission which was charged with reviewing the education system that had been in use since independence, found it unrealistic to drive the economic demands at the time and accordingly replaced it with the Canadian 8-4-4 system of education that had a broader curriculum and laid emphasis on the science subjects, vocational and practical subjects (Kagame of Kenya, 1993).

But the implementation of the new system may have come to haunt Kenyans now as three quarters of the students who sit their final examinations miss out on the universities central placement based (KCUPB) list. It is expected that those who miss out on the JAB list seek admission in private universities and other middle level colleges but this has proved to be a major challenge owing to inadequate and poorly equipped middle level colleges. Since 1998 when the pressure from the World Bank allowed governments in Sub-Saharan Africa to privatize higher education, no did the demand of the middle level colleges begin as most of them have been collapsed into universities and constituent colleges of public universities who are struggling to keep afloat due to inadequate funding from the exchequer. The collapse of middle level colleges has constructed students admission in tertiary institutions. According to Kenya national Examinations Council Reports (KCNEC 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2014, there were 557 488 KCNEC candidates in 2010, 411783, in 2011, and 436349 in 2012. The year 2013 recorded the highest number of KCNEC candidates at 446,696.

However, from 2011 to 2013, it turns out that more than 400,000 school leavers from Kenyan secondary schools were unable to proceed with any form of education. In 2013, out of out of 446,696 KCNEC candidates, only 121,365 representing 27.5 percent had managed to score C+ and above (Kaimenyi (2014) and who would possibly be admissible in Kenya's public and private universities going by the Commission for University Education regulations 2013. The remaining lot was to pursue their careers in middle level colleges and other technical and vocational colleges. However, enrollment in national polytechnics, other technical and vocational institutions including youth polytechnics is low at an average total enrollment of 75,000 students per annum. This is despite the fact that the country releases slightly over 500,0000 student per year with less than grade C+ who are expected to enroll in middle level colleges.

7.6. The A Level Segment and Subject Specialization

Most of the students interviewed argued that they were attracted to Uganda's system of education due to the A level segment that allowed them to pursue subjects of their choice unlike Kenya where they were forced to do all subjects including those they were not talented in. Every year when KCNEC examination results are released, scores of students score grades that cannot take them to university by Kenyan standards. The Kenya's Commission for University Education (CCUE) only allows those with grade C+ and above in KCNEC to be admitted to university education. The remaining lot who are the majority, are advised to pursue their careers in middle level colleges and Youth polytechnics. In his speech during the release of 2013 KCNEC results, the Kenyan Cabinet Secretary for Education noted that out of 446,696 candidates, only 121,365 representing 27.5 percent had managed to score C+ and above (Kaimenyi, 2014). Those would possibly be admissible in Kenya's public and private universities going by the Commission for University Education regulations 2013. The remaining lot were advised to pursue their careers in middle level colleges and other technical and vocational colleges. He stated thus:

Handbook of Research on Inclusive and Accessible Education Maguvhe, Mbulaheni Obert, Mpya, Nwacoye Gladness, Sadiki, Marubini Christinah, 2024-02-16 In the vast expanse of education a pervasive issue remains in the marginalization and lack of visibility of individuals with disabilities Despite a strong desire for inclusivity recent research suggests that fewer than 5% of children with disabilities in 51 countries across sub Saharan Africa and South Asia are enrolled in primary school This exclusion is not solely in enrollment numbers even those who manage to attend face learning environments ill equipped to adapt to their needs leading to further isolation Girls with disabilities in particular endure heightened vulnerability to abuse reflecting a systemic failure to provide an environment that fosters equality dignity and respect for all The Handbook of Research on Inclusive and Accessible Education emerges as an inspiration for change providing a profound solution to the persistent issue of exclusion The book encapsulates a collective effort to reimagine education It advocates for a paradigm shift moving away from the confinement of special schools and towards inclusive mainstream settings By addressing controversies sharing successes and outlining prospects the book serves as a comprehensive guide for special school governing bodies curriculum advisors university lecturers and all stakeholders committed to reshaping education

Dear Incomprehension Stéphane Vanderhaeghe, 2024-03-12 This book tackles a broad swath of contemporary literature currently labeled speculative fiction A blurring of genres that includes science fiction modern fairy tales and avant garde experimental fiction these works are extremely popular but also derive from highly sophisticated philosophical and aesthetic sensibilities ones that call into question and uproot the very foundations of stories and storytelling Because such fictions subvert most conventional narrative devices plot recognizable characters verisimilitude logic legibility they deliberately confound almost any kind of conventional reading and criticism To do such a literature justice the traditional frameworks of literary criticism fail and Dear Incomprehension is more of an extended philosophical essay than it is a traditional work of criticism as oblique and unconventional in its voice tone and methods as the texts it illuminates The ^AOxford Handbook of the Science of Science Communication Kathleen Hall Jamieson,Dan Kahan,Dietram A.
