Homeschool Your Child for Free LauraMaery Gold, Joan M. Zielinski, 2009-08-04 For Families Who Want to Splurge on Education but Scrimp on Spending Are you considering homeschooling your child but don't know where to go for the best educational resources? The Internet is an open door to the biggest library/laboratory the world has ever seen, and it's all at your fingertips for free. This never-ending source of information, adventure, and educational experiences for the entire family is now compiled in a complete curriculum for any age in Homeschool Your Child for Free. This invaluable guide to all the best in free educational material from reading readiness activities for preschoolers to science projects for teens categorizes, reviews, and rates more than 1,200 of the most useful educational resources on the Internet and beyond. You'll discover legal guidelines and compliance requirements for home educators, complete curriculum plans for a comprehensive education for preschool through high school, online lesson plans arranged by subject from American history to zoology, teaching tips and motivators from successful homeschoolers, and much, much more. Wow! Everything I have been trying to organize all in one book. This is going to be part of my resource library for the support group I lead. Thanks, ladies! Kimberly Eckles, HIS Support Group Leader. Home Instructors: I'm impressed. There are more sites and links than I knew existed. A great resource for homeschoolers. Maureen McCaffrey, publisher, Homeschooling Today. The State of Education Policy Research Susan H. Fuhrman, David K. Cohen, Fritz Mosher, 2020-11-25 The State of Education Policy Research is a comprehensive, insightful evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of education policy research in the U.S. today. Editors Susan Fuhrman, David Cohen, and Fritz Mosher examine key issues facing policymakers and researchers, including race, education equity, teacher quality, early education, privatization, and the politics of education policy. Collectively, the chapters present a complex mosaic of education policy research that integrates the views of policy experts from education, economics, and related disciplines. Important topics discussed in this influential new text include: Politics of education. Covers research on key political groups including teachers unions, business roundtables, parent and/or religious advocates, as well as state and federal lawmakers.

Race Discusses race as an issue as well as a non issue and includes a discussion of the testing gap State policies Provides an overview of state policies directed at improving teacher quality and discusses the reality of a teacher shortage National Trends Analyzes current trends toward centralization and standardization and the growing influence of federal and state mandates This book is appropriate for advanced courses in education administration politics and policy It will also appeal to policy researchers in education economics and political science to policy makers at the federal state and local levels and to the academic libraries serving them

Bridging the Gaps James E. Rosenbaum, Caitlin E. Ahearn, Janet E. Rosenbaum, Janet Rosenbaum, 2017-09-02 College for all has become the new American dream Most high school students today express a desire to attend college and 90% of on time high school graduates enroll in higher education in the eight years following high school Yet degree completion rates remain low for non traditional students students who are older low income or have poor academic achievement even at community colleges that endeavor to serve them What can colleges do to reduce dropouts In Bridging the Gaps education scholars James Rosenbaum Caitlin Ahearn and Janet Rosenbaum argue that when institutions focus only on bachelor's degrees and traditional college procedures they ignore other pathways to educational and career success Using multiple longitudinal studies the authors evaluate the shortcomings and successes of community colleges and investigate how these institutions can promote alternatives to BAs and traditional college procedures to increase graduation rates and improve job payoffs The authors find that sub baccalaureate credentials associate degrees and college certificates can improve employment outcomes Young adults who complete these credentials have higher employment rates earnings autonomy career opportunities and job satisfaction than those who enroll but do not complete credentials Sub BA credentials can be completed at community college in less time than bachelor's degrees making them an affordable option for many low income students Bridging the Gaps shows that when community colleges overemphasize bachelor's degrees they tend to funnel resources into remedial programs and try to get low performing students on track for a BA Yet remedial programs have inconsistent success rates and can create unrealistic expectations leading struggling students to drop out before completing any degree The authors show that colleges can devise procedures that reduce remedial placements and help students discover unseen abilities attain valued credentials get good jobs and progress on degree ladders to higher credentials To turn college for all into a reality community college students must be aware of their multiple credential and career options Bridging the Gaps shows how colleges can create new pathways for non traditional students to achieve success in their schooling and careers
