The Mental Health and Substance Use Workforce for Older Adults Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on the Mental Health Workforce for Geriatric Populations, 2012-10-26 At least 5 6 million to 8 million nearly one in five older adults in America have one or more mental health and substance use conditions which present unique challenges for their care With the number of adults age 65 and older projected to soar from 40 3 million in 2010 to 72 1 million by 2030 the aging of America holds profound consequences for the nation For decades policymakers have been warned that the nation s health care workforce is ill equipped to care for a rapidly growing and increasingly diverse population In the specific disciplines of mental health and substance use there have been similar warnings about serious workforce shortages insufficient workforce diversity and lack of basic competence and core knowledge in key areas Following its 2008 report highlighting the urgency of expanding and strengthening the geriatric health care workforce the IOM was asked by the Department of Health and Human Services to undertake a complementary study on the geriatric mental health and substance use workforce The Mental Health and Substance Use Workforce for Older Adults In Whose Hands assesses the needs of this population and the workforce that serves it The breadth and magnitude of inadequate workforce training and personnel shortages have grown to such proportions says the committee that no single approach nor a few isolated changes in disparate federal agencies or programs can adequately address the issue Overcoming these challenges will require focused and coordinated action by all

Japan's Demographic Revival Stephen Robert Nagy, 2015-11-30 Japan's Demographic Revival shifts discussions about employing immigration as the best or sole solution to assuaging Japan's demographic quagmire to a more systematic approach that identifies structural organizational and cultural impediments that contribute to Japan's and other countries declining demographic situations This edited volume also sheds light on the plethora of changes required to produce a demographically sustainable Japan Part One includes chapters explaining the endogenous ethnocultural and structural obstacles that link ethnocultural understandings of citizenship and nationality Part Two consists of chapters that provide insight into the societal barriers that exist in Japan to address demographic issues Part Three shifts its focus away from identifying and analyzing the structural organizational and cultural factors towards chapters that are policy oriented linking existing policies as contributing factors behind Japan's demographic challenge
