

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL

The main aim of this journal is to keep a record of my thoughts, notes, reflections and questions about this subject, and some implementation activities related to this subject that I have carried out in my classes. All the information we can find in this journal is connected, however I have decided to classify them by topics.

❖ Assessment & Evaluation:

I would like to center this reflection on my personal opinion about the fact of assessing and being assessed: how people feel, if they like or not and why, etc.

In my opinion the feeling people have when we are assessed changes through the years and it different depending on the kind you are. When children are at school they feel that assessment is something compulsory for them, but they do not really feel the pressure that, for example, students at high school feel because they know that they have to achieve the goals and the targets and unless they do it, they will not promote. On the other hand, we can think of assessment from the teachers' or parents' perspective. If we focus on parents' perspective, assessment is something good because it facilitates them the fact of knowing that their children are working at school and if they are truly learning or not. Now, I will focus on teachers' perspective. For teachers assessment is something great because it gives information about students and their progress in the learning process, about our own job (because we are assessed by others teachers of self-assessment) and information about the quality of the tools we use in our classes.

❖ Formative & Summative Assessment:

I would like to mention that, before studying this unit it was difficult for me to understand the difference between formative and summative assessment. However, now, I am able to distinguish them and that's why I would like to refers on these terms in the following lines. After each explanation, I will give you some examples of how I use each of the assessments with my students.

- Formative assessment provides explicit feedback to both, teacher and students, in order to improve the teaching-learning process, it means, the

Assessment for Experiential Learning Cecilia Ka Yuk Chan, 2022-09-29 Chan's book explores the challenges in assessing experiential learning deepens our understanding and inspires readers to think critically about the purpose of assessment in experiential learning. Experiential learning has been studied and proven to be effective for student learning particularly for the development of holistic competencies i.e. 21st century skills soft skills transferable skills considered essential for individuals to succeed in the increasingly global and technology infused 21st century society. Universities around the world are now actively organising experiential learning activities or programmes for students to gain enriching and diversified learning experiences however the assessment of these programmes tends to be limited unclear and contested. Assessment plays a central role in education policies and students approach to learning. But do educators know how to assess less traditional learning such as service learning entrepreneurship cross discipline or cross cultural projects internships and student exchanges. While the current assessment landscape is replete with assessments that measure knowledge of core content areas such as mathematics law languages science and social studies there is a lack of assessments and research that focus on holistic competencies. How do we assess students ability to think critically problem solve adapt self manage and collaborate. Central to the discussion in this book is the reason students are assessed and how they should be assessed to bring out their best learning outcomes. Offering a collection of best assessment practice employed by teachers around the world this volume brings together both theoretical and empirical research that underpins assessment and perceptions of different stakeholders understanding of assessment in experiential learning from students teachers and policymakers. The idea of assessment literacy also plays an important role in experiential learning for example reflection is often used in assessing students in experiential learning but how reflection literate are educators are they aware of the ethical dilemmas that arise in assessing students. These questions are discussed in detail. The volume also introduces a quality assurance programme to recognise student development within experiential learning programmes. The book will be particularly informative to academic developers teachers students and community partners who struggle with the development and assessment for experiential learning those who plan to apply for funding in experiential learning and policymakers and senior managements seeking evidence and advice on fine tuning curricular assessment designs and quality assurance. TESOL Guide for Critical Praxis in Teaching, Inquiry, and Advocacy Crawford, Jenifer, Filback, Robert A., 2021-09-17 The field of TESOL encompasses English teachers who teach English as an additional language in English dominant countries and those teachers who teach English as a foreign language in countries where a language other than English is the official language This range of educators teaches English to children adolescents and adults in primary secondary post secondary popular education and language academies or tutoring centers The diversity of learners and contexts within the TESOL field presents a unique opportunity for educators to address varied educational and societal needs

This opportunity calls for TESOL educators who can support the whole learner in a range of contexts for the greater social good. There is an urgent need for readily reproducible and step by step research based practices and current standards in TESOL that bridge the gap between critical scholarship and equitable teaching practices. This book would serve as a critical addition to current literature in TESOL. TESOL Guide for Critical Praxis in Teaching Inquiry and Advocacy is an essential reference that provides practical and equitable step by step guides for TESOL educators through the current best practices and methods for effective and equity minded teaching critical inquiry and transformative advocacy. This book is of particular value as it bridges theories to practices with a critical look at racial and social justice in English language teaching which will lead to the integration of social justice focused practice across the new curriculum. Covering topics such as integrated language instruction equity and inclusivity critical consciousness and online learning this text is essential for in service and pre service TESOL educators education students researchers administrators teacher educators and academicians. A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan, 2014-07-15 In A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan provides a new generation of teachers a means and a rationale to reconceive their approach to teaching writing calling into question the discipline's dependence on argument. Including secondary writing teachers within his purview Sullivan advocates a more diverse exploratory and flexible approach to writing activities in grades six through thirteen. A New Writing Classroom encourages teachers to pay more attention to research in learning theory transfer of learning international models for nurturing excellence in the classroom and recent work in listening to teach students the sort of dialogic stance that leads to higher order thinking and more sophisticated communication. The conventional argumentative essay is often a simplistic form of argument widely believed to be the most appropriate type of writing in English classes but other kinds of writing may be more valuable to students and offer more important kinds of cognitive challenges. Focusing on listening and dispositions or habits of mind as central elements of this new composition pedagogy A New Writing Classroom draws not just on composition studies but also on cognitive psychology philosophy learning theory literature and history making an exciting and significant contribution to the field. The Oxford Handbook of Undergraduate Psychology Education Dana Dunn, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Undergraduate Psychology Education provides psychology educators administrators and researchers with up to date advice on best teaching practices course content teaching methods and classroom management strategies student advising and professional and administrative issues. Thinking about Thinking Carol Benton, 2014-02-21 Thinking about Thinking Metacognition for Music Learning provides music educators with information inspiration and practical suggestions for teaching music. teaching strategies that educators can use to engage nursing students and enhance their learning in a variety of teaching environments. It provides a wealth of new teaching designs both novice and experienced faculty can use to inspire and motivate learners in the classroom through simulation online and in community or hospital settings. Strategies developed by leading clinical nursing and health educators characterize nursing education as a dynamic and highly specialized field that stems from meaningful interactions between learners and educators. For ease of comparison, each practical teaching strategy is organized in a consistent format to include student-centered competencies and nursing education accreditation standards. The text also provides a template and a step-by-step guide on how to customize the strategies to fit the needs of learners and educators. The designs include an emphasis on applications of technologically enhanced innovations in nursing education, interdisciplinary collaboration, and the use of the humanities and art. This text answers the ongoing call for interprofessional education necessary to prepare the next generation of expert nurses in the rapidly changing environment of healthcare.

Key Features:

- Evidence-based research used in the development of each teaching strategy.
- Groundbreaking practices in a variety of environments will challenge the discipline and spark additional innovations throughout nursing.
- Each chapter provides optimal learning outcomes and teaching objectives, preparation resources, modules of implementation methods to evaluate the effectiveness of each strategy, outlined limitations, and accreditation standards.

Reading Motivation Joy Dangora Erickson, 2022-12-14. Reading Motivation: A Guide to Understanding and Supporting Children's Willingness to Read explains the importance of paying careful attention to children's developing motivation to read and offers a step-by-step guide for conducting rigorous and systematic case studies of children's motivation to read in specific contexts, e.g., reading intervention programs. The methods described in this book have been used successfully to elicit the perspectives of children as young as five years of age. In addition to carefully considering the views of children, readers are encouraged to work with peers to carefully select, collect, and analyze multiple types of data from a variety of sources to answer questions about their students' motivation in trustworthy ways. Separate chapters explain how to formatively and summatively analyze and interpret qualitative and quantitative data and how to present findings and make changes to programming in response to findings. A summary and a guided activity appear at the end of each chapter to support the reader in practicing the skills introduced in the chapter.
