BOLESWA Conference ,2000 Regulations and Syllabuses for the Junior Certificate Examination Examinations Council of Lesotho,1982 Humans at the End of the Ice Age Lawrence Guy Straus,Berit Valentin Eriksen,Jon M. Erlandson,David R. Yesner,2012-12-06 Humans at the End of the Ice Age chronicles and explores the significance of the variety of cultural responses to the global environmental changes at the last glacial interglacial boundary Contributions address the nature and consequences of the global climate changes accompanying the end of the Pleistocene epoch detailing the nature speed and magnitude of the human adaptations that culminated in the development of food production in many parts of the world The text is aided by vital maps chronological tables and charts A Scientific Bibliography of the Drakensberg, Maloti and Adjacent Lowlands Rodney Moffett,2021-04-19 This bibliography includes scientific articles on the Drakensberg Maloti and Adjacent Lowlands published between 1808 and 2019 Although focussing on material appearing in accredited journals there is such a wealth of information in the form of unpublished yet traceable reports documents presentations and dissertations these are also included The bibliography has two parts a complete list arranged alphabetically and the same references arranged in 33 different disciplines These range from Palaeobotany with 17 entries to Rock Art with 502 entries Hunger and Public Action Jean Drèze,Amartya Sen,1989 This book analyses the role of public action in solving the problem of hunger in the modern world and is divided into four parts Hunger in the modern world Famines Undernutrition and deprivation and Hunger and public action South African Journal of Science ,2002 The Emergence of Modern Humans Paul Mellars,1990 Language Policies in Education James W. Tollefson,2013 How do language policies in schools create inequalities among learners How do policies marginalize some students while granting privilege to others How do language policies in education serve the interests of dominant groups within societies How can linguistic minorities further their interests through attempts to change language policies in schools This new edition of Language Policies in Education takes a fresh look at these enduring questions at the heart of fundamental debates about the role of schools in society the links between education and employment and conflicts between linguistic minorities and mainstream populations Reflecting developments in language policy since the publication of the first edition in 2002 all chapters are original and substantial contributions to the study of language policy and exemplify major theories and research methods in the field Chapter authors are major scholars in language policy and critical language studies The case studies international in scope present cutting edge analyses of important language policy debates in countries around the world

Moafrika ,2007 Papers Submitted to the Conference on South Africa in the Comparative Study of Class, Race, and Nationalism Sponsored by the Joint Committee on African Studies of the Social Science Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies, New York, Sept. 9-13, 1982 ,1982 Planning the Family in Egypt Kamran Asdar Ali,2013-11-06 In this ethnographic study the author examines the policies and practices of family planning programs in

Egypt to see how an elitist Western informed state attempts to create obliging citizens The state sees voluntary compliance with the law for the common good as the cornerstone of modernity Family planning programs are a training ground for the construction of self disciplined individuals and thus a rewarding area of study for the fate of social programs in developing countries Through a careful examination of state endorsed family planning practices in urban and rural contexts the author shows us the pervasive high pressure persuasion of women who are encouraged to think as individual decision makers of their immediate families and their national interests But what of the other forces at work in these women s lives binding them to their extended families and to their religious identities And what of the laws that allow for polygamy and discriminate against women in marriage inheritance and as part of the workforce These forces operate against the received wisdom of the state Is the Muslim community thought to end at the borders of Egypt What about local constructions of masculinity when the state appeals to wives to decide for themselves How does widespread labor migration to foreign countries affect attitudes toward family planning How is female contraception viewed by the Islamic Brotherhood and other modern Muslim groups This book questions much that we have taken for granted and gives us grounds for reexamining our assumptions about family planning and the individual and state in developing countries such as Egypt Eastern Africa Social Science Research Review ,1992 The South African Archaeological Bulletin ,2003 Proceedings of the Prehistoric Society for ... ,1992 Language Science and Language technology in Africa Steve Ndinga-Koumba-Binza, Sonja E Bosch, 2012-10-01 This book provides a broad overview of current work on South African languages language resources and language technologies While it provides a fairly comprehensive overview it also ties together the most recent knowledge state here and is therefore truly innovative The book is therefore informed by current international trends in the respective fields of science and feeds back into them There is absolutely no doubt that the book has an academic peer audience and is directed at specialists in the field Prof Axel Fleisch University of Helsinki Finland Popular Participation and Rural Development Eastern Africa Social Science Research Consultative Group. Conference, 1981 The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Diet Julia Lee-Thorp, M. Anne Katzenberg, 2024-06-24 Humans are unique among animals for the wide diversity of foods and food preparation techniques that are intertwined with regional cultural distinctions around the world The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Diet explores evidence for human diet from our earliest ancestors through the dispersal of our species across the globe As populations expanded people encountered new plants and animals and learned how to exploit them for food and other resources Today globalization aside the results manifest in a wide array of traditional cuisines based on locally available indigenous and domesticated plants and animals How did this complexity emerge When did early hominins actively incorporate animal foods into their diets and later exploit marine and freshwater resources What were the effects of reliance on domesticated grains such as maize and rice on past populations and the health of individuals How did a domesticated plant like maize move from its place of origin to the northernmost regions where it can be grown

Importantly how do we discover this information and what can be deduced about human health biology and cultural practices in the past and present Such questions are explored in thirty three chapters written by leading researchers in the study of human dietary adaptations The approaches encompass everything from information gleaned from comparisons with our nearest primate relatives tools used in procuring and preparing foods skeletal remains chemical or genetic indicators of diet and genetic variation and modern or historical ethnographic observations Examples are drawn from across the globe and information on the research methods used is embedded within each chapter The Handbook provides a comprehensive reference work for advanced undergraduate and graduate students and for professionals seeking authoritative essays on specific topics about diet in the human past
