Achieving Adaptability Through Inquiry Based Learning Thomas M. Duffy, 2010      Emergent Problems in Nonlinear Systems and Control Bijoy Ghosh, Clyde F. Martin, Yishao Zhou, 2009-10-06 Papers in this collection partly represent the set of talks that were presented at Texas Tech University on the occasion of Daya's memorial workshop in the year 2007. Daya had a varied interest in the field of Dynamics and Control Theory and the papers bring out the essence of his involvement in these activities. He also had a large number of collaborators and this collection represents a good fraction of them. The papers included here cover his interest in control theory. Also included are papers from application areas that we believe are of strong interest to him.

Transactions on Pattern Languages of Programming IV James Noble, Ralph Johnson, Uwe Zdun, Eugene Wallingford, 2019-03-04 The Transactions on Pattern Languages of Programming subline aims to publish papers on patterns and pattern languages as applied to software design development and use throughout all phases of the software life cycle from requirements and design to implementation, maintenance, and evolution. The primary focus of this LNCS Transactions subline is on patterns, pattern collections, and pattern languages themselves. The journal also includes reviews, survey articles, criticisms of patterns and pattern languages, as well as other research on patterns and pattern languages. This book, the third volume in the Transactions on Pattern Languages of Programming series, presents five papers that have been through a careful peer review process involving both pattern experts and domain experts. The papers present various pattern languages and a study of applying patterns and represent some of the best work that has been carried out in design patterns and pattern languages of programming over the last few years.

Speech Language Therapy as a Global Practice Bea Staley, Chisomo Selemani, Marise Fernandes, 2025-08-15 Speech Language Therapy as a Global Practice focuses on the necessary skills and considerations needed to be a culturally responsive clinician in a multicultural and multilingual world. The book highlights current issues of global practice and advocates for appropriate ways to engage with global communities. It positions culture, context, and collaboration as integral and intertwined components of speech language therapy work. Drawing on examples of successful and ongoing collaborative global speech language therapy partnerships, chapters cover a breadth of topics including social justice, translanguaging, and colourism, and include a series of reflective questions. Authors grapple with ways to challenge the status quo and consider alternative ways of being, knowing, and doing, including the use of technology and innovation in global practice. Overall, this collection highlights the importance of creating space for discussion as the profession of speech language therapy is now practiced in more countries than ever before. This much-needed book will be essential reading for students and practising speech language therapists, particularly those interested in cultural competence, meaningful reflection, and ethical practice. It will also be of interest to allied health professionals working with individuals experiencing communication disability.

ECSCW 2001 Wolfgang

Prinz,Matthias Jarke,Yvonne Rogers,K. Schmidt,Volker Wulf,2007-05-08 Schmidt and Bannon 1992 introduced the concept of common information space by contrasting it with technical conceptions of shared information Cooperative work is not facilitated simply by the provisioning of a shared database but rather requires the active construction by the participants of a common information space where the meanings of the shared objects are debated and resolved at least locally and temporarily Schmidt and Bannon p 22 A CIS then encompasses not only the information but also the practices by which actors establish its meaning for their collective work These negotiated understandings of the information are as important as the availability of the information itself The actors must attempt to jointly construct a common information space which goes beyond their individual personal information spaces The common information space is negotiated and established by the actors involved Schmidt and Bannon p 28 This is not to suggest that actors understandings of the information are identical they are simply common enough to coordinate the work People understand how the information is relevant for their own work Therefore individuals engaged in different activities will have different perspectives on the same information The work of maintaining the common information space is the work that it takes to balance and accommodate these different perspectives A bug report in software development is a simple example Software developers and quality assurance personnel have access to the same bug report information However access to information is not sufficient to coordinate their work
