Readings In Zoosemiotics:

Readings in Zoosemiotics Timo Maran, Dario Martinelli, Aleksei Turovski, 2011-11-30 The book is the first annotated reader to focus specifically on the discipline of zoosemiotics. Zoosemiotics can be defined today as the study of signification, communication and representation within and across animal species. The name for the field was proposed in 1963 by the American semiotician Thomas A. Sebeok. He also established the framework for the paradigm by finding and tightening connections to predecessors, describing terminology, developing methodology and setting directions for possible future studies. The volume includes a wide selection of original texts accompanied by editorial introductions. An extensive opening introduction discusses the place of zoosemiotics among other sciences as well as its inner dimensions, the understanding of the concept of communication in zoosemiotics, the heritage of biologist Jakob von Uexküll, contemporary developments in zoosemiotics and other issues. Chapter introductions discuss the background of the authors and selected texts as well as other relevant texts. The selected texts cover a wide range of topics such as semiotic constitution of nature, cognitive capabilities of animals, typology of animal expression and many other issues. The roots of zoosemiotics can be traced back to the works of David Hume and John Locke. Great emphasis is placed on the heritage of Thomas A. Sebeok and a total of four of his essays are included. The Reader also includes influential studies in animal communication: honey bee dance language, vervet monkey alarm calls as well as theory elaborations by Gregory Bateson and others. The reader concludes with a section dedicated to contemporary research. Readings in Zoosemiotics is intended as a primary source of information about zoosemiotics and also provides additional readings for students of cognitive ethology and animal communication studies.

Bloomsbury Semiotics Volume 2: Semiotics in the Natural and Technical Sciences Jamin Pelkey, Stéphanie Walsh Matthews, 2023-01-12 Bloomsbury Semiotics offers a state of the art overview of the entire field of semiotics by revealing its influence on a wide range of disciplinary perspectives. With four volumes spanning theory, method and practice across the disciplines, this definitive reference work emphasizes and strengthens common bonds shared across intellectual cultures and facilitates the discovery and recovery of meaning across fields. It comprises Volume 1: History and Semiosis, Volume 2: Semiotics in the Natural and Technical Sciences, Volume 3: Semiotics in the Arts and Social Sciences, Volume 4: Semiotic Movements. Written by leading international experts, the chapters provide comprehensive overviews of the history and status of semiotic inquiry across a diverse range of traditions and disciplines. Together they highlight key contemporary developments and debates along with ongoing research priorities. Providing the most comprehensive and united overview of the field, Bloomsbury Semiotics enables anyone from students to seasoned practitioners to better understand and benefit from semiotic insight and how it relates to their own area of study or research. Volume 2: Semiotics in the Natural and Technical Sciences presents the state of the art in semiotic approaches to disciplines ranging from mathematics and biology to neuroscience and medicine, from evolutionary linguistics and animal behaviour studies to computing, finance, law.

architecture and design Each chapter casts a vision for future research priorities unanswered questions and fresh openings for semiotic participation in these and related fields Anthrozoology Michael Charles Tobias, Jane Gray

Morrison, 2016-12-20 This groundbreaking work of both theoretical and experiential thought by two leading ecological philosophers and animal liberation scientists ventures into a new frontier of applied ethical anthrozoological studies Through lean and elegant text readers will learn that human interconnections with other species and ecosystems are severely endangered precisely because we lack by our evolutionary self confidence the very coherence that is everywhere around us abundantly demonstrated What our species has deemed to be superior is according to Tobias and Morrison the cumulative result of a tragically tenuous argument predicated on the brink of our species self destruction giving rise to a most unique proposition We either recognize the miracle of other sentient intelligence sophistication and genius or risk enshrining the shortest lived epitaph of any known vertebrate in earth's 4.1 billion years of life Tobias and Morrison draw on 45 years of research in fields ranging from ecological anthropology animal protection and comparative ethics to literature and spirituality and beyond They deploy research in animal and plant behavior biocultural heritage contexts from every continent and they bring to bear a deeply metaphysical array of perspectives that set this book apart from any other The book departs from most work in such fields as animal rights ecological aesthetics comparative ethology or traditional animal and plant behaviorist work and yet it speaks to readers with an interest in those fields A deeply provocative book of philosophical premises and hypotheses from two of the world's most influential ecological philosophers this text is likely to stir uneasiness and debate for many decades to come The Sensory Modes of Animal Rhetorics Alex C. Parrish, 2021-07-14

The Sensory Modes of Animal Rhetorics A Hoot in the Light presents the latest research in animal perception and cognition in the context of rhetorical theory Alex C Parrish explores the science of animal signaling that shows human and nonhuman animals share similar rhetorical strategies such as communicating to manipulate or persuade which suggests the vast impact sensory modalities have on communication in nature The book demonstrates new ways of seeing humans and how we have separated ourselves from and subjectified the animal rhetor This type of cross species study allows us to trace the origins of our own persuasive behaviors providing a deeper and more inclusive history of rhetoric than ever before The Routledge Handbook of Language and Persuasion Jeanne Fahnestock, Randy Allen Harris, 2022-09-30 This handbook provides a wide ranging authoritative and cutting edge overview of language and persuasion Featuring a range of international contributors the handbook outlines the basic materials of linguistic persuasion sound words syntax and discourse and the rhetorical basics that they enable such as appeals argument schemes arrangement strategies and accommodation devices After a comprehensive introduction that brings together the elements of linguistics and the vectors of rhetoric the handbook is divided into six parts Part I covers the basic rhetorical appeals to character the emotions argument schemes and types of issues that constitute persuasion Part II covers the enduring effects of persuasive language from humor to polarization while a special group of chapters in Part III examines figures of speech and their rhetorical uses In Part IV contributors focus on different fields and genres of argument as entry points for research into conventions of arguing Part V examines the evolutionary and developmental roots of persuasive language and Part VI highlights new computational methods of language analysis This handbook is essential reading for those researching and studying persuasive language in the fields of linguistics rhetoric argumentation communication discourse studies political science psychology digital studies mass media and journalism

Adaptive Rhetoric Alex C. Parrish, 2013-11-07 Rhetorical scholarship has for decades relied solely on culture to explain persuasive behavior While this focus allows for deep explorations of historical circumstance it neglects the powerful effects of biology on rhetorical behavior how our bodies and brains help shape and constrain rhetorical acts Not only is the cultural model incomplete but it tacitly endorses the fallacy of human exceptionalism By introducing evolutionary biology into the study of rhetoric this book serves as a model of a biocultural paradigm Being mindful of biological and cultural influences allows for a deeper view of rhetoric one that is aware of the ubiquity of persuasive behavior in nature Human and nonhuman animals and even some plants persuade to survive to live love and cooperate That this broad spectrum of rhetorical behavior exists in the animal world demonstrates how much we can learn from evolutionary biology By incorporating scholarship on animal signaling into the study of rhetoric the author explores how communication has evolved and how numerous different species of animals employ similar persuasive tactics in order to overcome similar problems This cross species study of rhetoric allows us to trace the origins of our own persuasive behaviors providing us with a deeper history of rhetoric that transcends the written and the televised and reveals the artifacts of our communicative past

A Global History of Literature and the Environment John Parham, Louise Westling, 2016-12-01 In A Global History of Literature and the Environment an international group of scholars illustrate the immense riches of environmental writing from the earliest literary periods down to the present It addresses ancient writings about human animal plant relations from India classical Greece Chinese and Japanese literature the Maya Popol Vuh Islamic texts medieval European works eighteenth century and Romantic ecologies colonial postcolonial environmental interrelations responses to industrialization and the emerging literatures of the world in the present Anthropocene moment Essays range from Trinidad to New Zealand Estonia to Brazil Discussion of these texts indicates a variety of ways environmental criticism can fruitfully engage literary works and cultures from every continent and every historical period This is a uniquely varied and rich international history of environmental writing from ancient Mesopotamian and Asian works to the present It provides a compelling account of a topic that is crucial to twenty first century global literary studies

Field Philosophy and Other Experiments Brett Buchanan, Matthew Chrulew, Michelle Bastian, 2021-05-13 This agenda setting collection argues for the importance of fieldwork for philosophy and provides reflections on methods for such field philosophy from the interdisciplinary vantage point of the environmental humanities Field philosophy has emerged from multiple sources including approaches focused on public and participatory research and others focused on ethology multispecies studies and the environmental humanities more broadly These approaches have yet to enter the mainstream of the discipline however and field philosophy remains an open and uncharted terrain for philosophical pursuits This book brings together leading and emerging philosophers who have engaged in critical and constructive forms of fieldwork for some over decades and who through these articles demonstrate new possibilities and new experiments for philosophical practices This collection will be of interest to scholars working across the disciplines of continental philosophy environmental humanities science and technology studies animal studies cultural anthropology art and more The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Parallax

Signs in the Dust Nathan Lyons, 2019-02-28 Modern thought is characterized by a dichotomy of meaningful culture and unmeaning nature Signs in the Dust uses medieval semiotics to develop a new theory of nature and culture that resists this familiar picture of things Nathan Lyons argues that culture is natural and nature is cultural through and through

Pathways to the Origin and Evolution of Meanings in the Universe Alexei A. Sharov, George E. Mikhailovsky, 2024-02-28 Pathways to the Origin and Evolution of Meanings in the Universe The book explains why meaning is a part of the universe populated by life and how organisms generate meanings and then use them for creative transformation of the environment and themselves This book focuses on interdisciplinary research at the intersection of biology semiotics philosophy ethology information theory and the theory of evolution Such a broad approach provides a rich context for the study of organisms and other semiotic agents in their environments This methodology can be applied to robotics and artificial intelligence for developing robust adaptable learning devices In this book leading interdisciplinary scholars reveal their vision on how to integrate natural sciences with semiotics a theory of meaning making and signification Developments in biology indicate that the capacity to create and understand signs is not limited to humans or vertebrate animals but exists in all living organisms the fact that inspired the integration of biology and semiotics into biosemiotics The authors discuss the nature of semiotic agents organisms and other autonomous goal directed units meaning signs information memory evolution and consciousness Also discussed are issues including the origin of life potential meaning and its actualization top down causality in physics and biology capacity of organisms to encode their functions the strategy of organisms to combine homeostasis with direct adaptation to new life cycle phases or new environments multi level memory systems increase of freedom via enabling constraints creative modeling in evolution and learning communication in animals and humans the origin and function of language and the distribution and transfer of life in space This is the first book on biosemiotics in its global conceptual and spatial scope Biosemiotics is presented using the language of natural sciences which supports the scientific grounding of semiotic terms Finally the cosmic dimension of life and meaning making leads to a reconsideration of ethical principles and ecological mentality here on earth and in space exploration Audience Theoretical biologists ethologists astrobiologists ecologists evolutionary biologists philosophers phenomenologists semioticians biosemioticians molecular biologists linguists system scientists and engineers The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism Greg Garrard, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism provides a broad survey of the longstanding relationship between literature and the environment The moment for such an offering is opportune in many respects multiple environmental crises are increasingly inescapable at both transnational and local levels the role of the humanities in addition to technology and politics is increasingly recognized as central for exploring and finding solutions and the subject of ecocriticism has reached a kind of critical mass both within its Anglo American heartlands and beyond From its origins in the study of American Nature Writing and British Romanticism ecocriticism has developed along numerous theoretical historical cultural and geographical axes the most contemporary and exciting of which will be represented in the Handbook The contributors include eminent founders of the field including Cheryl Glotfelty and Jonathan Bate a number of key second wave ecocritics and the best up and coming scholars Topics covered include Green Shakespeare the Bard's subversive uses of the pastoral John Clare's sacred relationship with the land Thoreau's profound political passion the natural landscape as symbol of postcolonial resistance in works by Lessing Naipaul and Coetzee the relation between feminism and environmentalism language and the concept of biosemiotics and concerns over pollution and toxicity in films like Erin Brockovich Michael Clayton and Al Gore's An Inconvenient Truth Jakob von Uexküll and Philosophy Francesca Micheli, Kristian Köchy, 2019-12-09 Dismissed by some as the last of the anti Darwinians his fame as a rigorous biologist even tainted by an alleged link to National Socialist ideology it is undeniable that Jakob von Uexküll 1864-1944 was eagerly read by many philosophers across the spectrum of philosophical schools from Scheler to Merleau Ponty and Deleuze and from Heidegger to Blumenberg and Agamben What has then allowed his name to survive the misery of history as well as the usually fatal gap between science and humanities This collection of essays attempts for the first time to do justice to Uexküll's theoretical impact on Western culture By highlighting his importance for philosophy the book aims to contribute to the general interpretation of the relationship between biology and philosophy in the last century and explore the often neglected connection between continental philosophy and the sciences of life Thanks to the exploration of Uexküll's conceptual legacy the origins of cybernetics the overcoming of metaphysical dualisms and a refined understanding of organisms appear variedly interconnected Uexküll's background and his relevance in current debates are thoroughly examined as to appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers in fields such as history of the life sciences philosophy of biology critical animal studies philosophical anthropology biosemiotics and biopolitics Handbook of Translation Studies Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2021-10-15 Up to now the Handbook of Translation Studies HTS consisted of four volumes all published between 2010 and 2013 Since research in TS continues to grow and expand this fifth volume was added in 2021 The HTS aims at disseminating knowledge about translation interpreting localization adaptation etc and providing easy access to a large range of topics traditions and methods to a relatively broad audience not only students who prefer such user friendliness but also researchers and lecturers in Translation Studies Translation Interpreting professionals as well as scholars and experts from other adjacent disciplines All articles in HTS are written by specialists in the different subfields and are peer reviewed

Handbook of Ecocriticism and Cultural Ecology Hubert Zapf, 2016-05-10 Ecocriticism has emerged as one of the most fascinating and rapidly growing fields of recent literary and cultural studies From its regional origins in late twentieth century Anglo American academia it has become a worldwide phenomenon which involves a decidedly transdisciplinary and transnational paradigm that promises to return a new sense of relevance to research and teaching in the humanities A distinctive feature of the present handbook in comparison with other survey volumes is the combination of ecocriticism with cultural ecology reflecting an emphasis on the cultural transformation of ecological processes and on the crucial role of literature art and other forms of cultural creativity for the evolution of societies towards sustainable futures In state of the art contributions by leading international scholars in the field this handbook maps some of the most important developments in contemporary ecocritical thought It introduces key theoretical concepts issues and directions of ecocriticism and cultural ecology and demonstrates their relevance for the analysis of texts and other cultural phenomena

Time, Space, Matter in Translation Pamela Beattie, Simona Bertacco, Tatjana Soldat-Jaffe, 2022-09-28 Time Space Matter in Translation considers time space and materiality as legitimate habitats of translation By offering a linked series of interdisciplinary case studies that show translation in action beyond languages and texts this book provides a capacious and innovative understanding of what translation is what it does how and where The volume uses translation as a means through which to interrogate processes of knowledge transfer and creation interpretation and reading communication and relationship building but it does so in ways that refuse to privilege one discipline over another denying any one of them an entitled perspective The result is a book that is grounded in the disciplines of the authors and simultaneously groundbreaking in how its contributors incorporate translation studies into their work This is key reading for students in comparative literature and in the humanities at large and for scholars interested in seeing how expanding intellectual conversations can develop beyond traditional questions and methods

Animals, Machines, and AI Erika Quinn, Holly Yanacek, 2021-11-08 Sentient animals machines and robots abound in German literature and culture but there has been surprisingly limited scholarship on non human life forms in German studies This volume extends interdisciplinary research in emotion studies to examine non humans and the affective relationships between humans and non humans in modern German cultural history In recent years fascination with emotions developments in robotics and the burgeoning of animal studies in and beyond the academy have given rise to questions about the nature of humanity Using sources from the life sciences literature visual art poetry philosophy and photography this collection interrogates not animal or machine emotions per se but rather uses animals and machines as lenses through which to investigate human emotions and the affective entanglements between humans and non humans The COVID 19 pandemic made us more keenly aware of the importance of both animals and new technologies in our daily lives and this volume ultimately sheds light on the centrality of non humans in the human emotional world and the possibilities that relationships with non humans offer for enriching that world Watch our talk with the editors Erika Quinn and Holly Yanacek here https://youtu.be/RBMwXah_Om8 The Nature Instinct Tristan Gooley, 2018-11-20 A captivating guide to finding one's way in the wild The Wall Street Journal The culmination of everything Tristan Gooley has written so far How to take what you learn about the outdoors and make it second nature Readers of master outdoorsman Tristan Gooley have learned that the world is filled with clues to look for we can use the Big Dipper to tell time for example and a budding flower to find south But what about the innate survival instincts that told Gooley to move on one night just as he was about to make camp Everything looked perfect but something felt wrong When Gooley returned to his abandoned campsite to search for clues there they were All of the tree trunks were slightly bent The ground had already shifted once in a storm and could easily shift again becoming treacherous in heavy rain The Nature Instinct shows us how Gooley and other expert observers from hunters in the English countryside to the Pygmy people in the Congo have recovered and rekindled this lost sixth sense a subconscious deeper understanding of our surroundings By training ourselves through slow careful observation we too can unlock this kind of intuition for finding the forest's edge when deep in the woods or knowing when a wild animal might pose danger without even having to stop to think about it

Translation Beyond Translation Studies Kobus Marais, 2022-10-06 What is translation Even as the scholarly viewpoint of translation studies has expanded over recent years the notion of translation has remained fixedly defined by its interlinguistic element However there are many different contexts and disciplines in which translation takes place for which this definition is entirely unsuitable Exploring translational aspects in contexts in which scholars do not think about translation this book considers the alternative uses of the term beyond the interlinguistic dimension Taking our understanding of translation back to its basic semiotic principles leading experts outline the wide variety of alternative fields of study practices applications and contexts in which the term translation is used Chapters examine 11 different fields of study exploring what the term translation means how it is used and what it could contribute to an enlarged understanding of translation as a concept In this way the volume argues for a reimagining of what we mean by translation providing an essential reference for anyone interested in how translation is understood and practiced beyond the narrow perspectives of the field of translation studies itself

Visual Communication David Machin, 2014-04-30 The primary goal of the volume on Visual Communication is to provide a collection of high quality accessible papers that offer an overview of the different academic approaches to Visual Communication the different theoretical perspectives on which they are based the methods of analysis used and the different media and genre that have come under analysis There is no such existing volume that draws together this range of closely related material generally found in much less related areas of research including semiotics art history design and new media theory The volume has a total of 34 individual chapters that are organized into two sections theories and methods and areas of visual analysis The chapters are all written by quality theorists and researchers with a view that the research should be accessible to non specialists in their own field while at the same time maintaining a high quality of work The volume contains an introduction which plots and locates the different approaches contained in it within broader developments and history of approaches to visual communication across different disciplines as each has attempted to define its terrain sometimes through unique concepts and methods sometimes through those borrowed and modified from others

The Imaginary of Animals Annabelle Dufourcq, 2021-07-29 This book explores the phenomenon of animal imagination and its profound power over the human imagination It examines the structural and ethical role that the human imagination must play to provide an interface between humans subjectivity and the real cognitive capacities of animals The book offers a systematic study of the increasing importance of the metaphors the virtual and figures in contemporary animal studies It explores human animal and real imaginary dichotomies revealing them to be the source of oppressive cultural structures Through an analysis of creative playful and theatric enactments and mimicry of animal behaviors and communication the book establishes that human imagination is based on animal imagination This helps redefine our traditional knowledge about animals and presents new practices and ethical concerns in regard to the animals The book strongly contends that allowing imagination to play a role in our relation to animals will lead to the development of a more empathetic approach towards them Drawing on works in phenomenology contemporary animal philosophy as well as ethological evidence and biosemiotics this book is the first to rethink the traditional philosophical concepts of imagination images the imaginary and reality in the light of a zoocentric perspective It will appeal to philosophers scholars and students in the field of animal studies as well as anyone interested in human and non human imaginations
