A. Marshall,Catherine E. W. Steel,2018-02-13 Public speech was a key aspect of politics in Republican Rome both in theory and in practice and recent decades have seen a surge in scholarly discussion of its significance and performance Yet the partial nature of the surviving evidence means that our understanding of its workings is dominated by one man whose texts are the only examples to have survived in complete form since antiquity Cicero This collection of essays aims to broaden our conception of the oratory of the Roman Republic by exploring how it was practiced by individuals other than Cicero whether major statesmen jobbing lawyers or exceptionally the wives of politicians It focuses particularly on the surviving fragments of such oratory with individual essays tackling the challenges posed both by the partial and often unreliable nature of the evidence about these other Roman orators often known to us chiefly through the tendentious observations of Cicero himself and the complex intersections of the written fragments and the oral phenomenon Collectively the essays are concerned with the methods by which we are able to reconstruct non Ciceronian oratory and the exploration of new ways of interpreting this evidence to tell us about the content context and delivery of those speeches They are arranged into two thematic Parts the first addressing questions of reception selection and transmission and the second those of reconstruction contextualization and interpretation together they represent a comprehensive overview of the non Ciceronian speeches that will be of use to all ancient historians philologists and literary classicists with an interest in the oratory of the Roman Republic     Alexandria George Hinge,Jens A Krasilnikoff,2009-12-31 Throughout the entire span of Graeco Roman antiquity Alexandria represented a meeting place for many ethnic cultures and the city itself was subject to a wide range of local developments which created and formatted a distinct Alexandrine culture as well as several distinct cultures Ancient Greek Roman and Jewish observers communicated or held claim to that particular message Hence Arrian Theocritus Strabo and Athenaeus reported their fascination with the Alexandrine melting pot to the wider world as did Philo Josephus and Clement In various fashions the four papers of Part I of the volume Alexandria from Greece and Egypt deal with the relationship between Ptolemaic Alexandria and its Greek past However the Egyptian origin and heritage also plays important roles for the arguments The contributions to the second part of the book are devoted to discussions of various aspects of contact and development between Rome Judaism and Christianity     The Classical Review ,1924     The Archaeology of Household Activities Penelope Allison,2013-05-13 This pioneering collection engages with recent research in different areas of the archaeological discipline to bring together case studies of the household material culture from later prehistoric and classical periods The book provides a comprehensive and accessible study for students into the material records of past households aiding wider understanding of our own domestic development     Reading, Writing, and Bookish Circles in the Ancient Mediterranean Jonathan D.H. Norton,Garrick Allen,Lindsey A. Askin,2022-06-30 By integrating conversations across disciplines especially focusing on classical studies and Jewish and Christian studies this volume addresses several imbalances in scholarship on reading and textual activity in the ancient Mediterranean Contributors intentionally place Jewish Christian Roman Greek and other reading circles back into their encompassing historical context avoiding subdivisions along modern subject lines divisions still bearing marks of cultural and ideological interests In their examination contributors avoid dwelling upon traditional methodological debates over orality vs literacy and social classifications of literacy instead turning their attention to the social historical groups of people circles and networks strata and class scribal culture material culture epigraphic and papyrological evidence functions and types of literacy and the social relationships that all of these entail Overall the volume contributes to an emerging and important interdisciplinary collaboration between specialists in ancient literacy encouraging future discussion between two currently divided fields     Teaching Classics Worldwide Steven Hunt,John Bulwer,2025-02-06 Designed for instructors in schools and
