Doing Environmental Ethics Robert Traer, 2009-02-10 Doing Environmental Ethics is a brief accessible applied ethics book offering an inclusive and practical way for an individual to personally address the world's ecological crisis. Author Robert Traer builds on a commonsense understanding of doing what is right and being a good person and suggests how with a deeper sense of self and one's place in nature we can begin to change our carbon footprint. To consider and understand public policies and personal environmental practices, Traer draws on secular and religious perspectives as well as Eastern and Western traditions. Doing Environmental Ethics devotes central attention to considerations of duty to other people, species, and ecosystems, character, personal traits, and virtues, relationships to people and the natural environment, and rights of people to participate in land use decisions that affect them. Discussion questions at the end of each chapter help readers clarify their reasoning and create action plans for change. Doing Environmental Ethics demonstrates how valuable defining one's own philosophy about the environment is to living with greater ecological awareness and sense of personal responsibility. Jacket

Achieving the Sustainable Development Goals Simon Dalby, Susan Horton, Rianne Mahon, Diana Thomaz, 2019-04-11 This book draws on the expertise of faculty and colleagues at the Balsillie School of International Affairs to both locate the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) as a contribution to the development of global government and to examine the political, institutional, and financial challenges posed by the SDGs. The contributors are experts in global governance issues in a broad variety of fields ranging from health, food systems, social policy, migration, and climate change. An introductory chapter sets out the broad context of the governance challenges involved and how individual chapters contribute to the analysis. The book begins by focusing on individual SDGs, examining briefly the background to the particular goal and evaluating the opportunities and challenges, particularly governance challenges, in achieving the goal as well as discussing how this goal relates to other SDGs. The book goes on to address the broader issues of achieving the set of goals overall, examining the novel financing mechanisms required for an enterprise of this nature, the trade-offs involved, particularly between the urgent climate agenda and the social/economic goals, the institutional arrangements designed to enable the achievement of the goals, and offering a critical perspective on the enterprise as a whole. Achieving the Sustainable Development Goals makes a distinctive contribution by covering a broad range of individual goals with contributions from experts on governance in the global climate, social, and economic areas, as well as providing assessments of the overall project, its financial feasibility, institutional requisites, and its failures to tackle certain problems at the core. This book will be of great interest to scholars and students of international affairs, development studies, and sustainable development, as well as those engaged in policymaking nationally, internationally, and those working in NGOs.

Current Status and Trends in Urban Agriculture Thomas Henry Whitlow, Yoshiki Harada, Zhongqi Cheng, Gaston Small, 2022-03-31 Veterinary and Human Toxicology, 1977 Evolution in the Here and Now Nigel Barber, 2020-05-12 This book argues that the two most influential theories on modern human behavior cultural determinism and evolutionary psychology are quite inadequate Cultural deterministic theories deny personal experience and too often fall prey to anthropocentric bias Most evolutionary psychologists argue that humans are shaped to fit our ancestral past effectively freezing us in time Evolution in the Here and Now looks to new factors like social learning and adaptation to explain the idiosyncrasies of human behavior in a more complete and nuanced way Evolutionary psychologist Nigel Barber shows that human behavior is uniquely crafted by the surrounding environment in underappreciated and surprising ways For example commerce and agriculture can be interpreted as adaptive alternatives to hunting and gathering Irrigated farming was a response to land scarcity which ultimately permitted the rise of early cities This cross disciplinary approach unites the missing ingredients that have for so long impeded our understanding of our own species and its variation across cultures Evolution in the Here and Now is a bold step forward in the evolutionary understanding of human behavior that marries our biology with our history in ways that have never been attempted before
