Department of Commerce. Office of Technical Services, 1962 Cornell Glenn C. Altschuler, Isaac Kramnick, 2014-08-12 In their history of Cornell since 1940

Glenn C Altschuler and Isaac Kramnick examine the institution in the context of the emergence of the modern research university The book examines Cornell during the Cold War the civil rights movement Vietnam antiapartheid protests the ups and downs of varsity athletics the women s movement the opening of relations with China and the creation of Cornell NYC Tech It relates profound fascinating and little known incidents involving the faculty administration and student life connecting them to the Cornell idea of freedom and responsibility The authors had access to all existing papers of the presidents of Cornell which deeply informs their respectful but unvarnished portrait of the university Institutions like individuals develop narratives about themselves Cornell constructed its sense of self of how it was special and different on the eve of World War II when America defended democracy from fascist dictatorship Cornell s fifth president Edmund Ezra

Day and Carl Becker its preeminent historian discerned what they called a Cornell soul a Cornell character a Cornell personality a Cornell tradition and they called it freedom The Cornell idea was tested and contested in Cornell s second seventy five years Cornellians used the ideals of freedom and responsibility as weapons for change and justifications for retaining the status quo to protect academic freedom and to rein in radical professors to end in loco parentis and parietal rules to preempt party raids pornography and pot parties and to reintroduce regulations to protect and promote the physical and emotional well being of students to add nanofabrication entrepreneurship and genomics to the curriculum and to require language courses freshmen writing and physical education In the name of freedom and responsibility black students occupied Willard Straight Hall the anti Vietnam War SDS took over the Engineering Library proponents of divestment from South Africa built campus shantytowns and Latinos seized Day Hall In the name of responsibility and freedom the university reclaimed them The history of Cornell since World War II Altschuler and Kramnick believe is in large part a set of variations on the narrative of freedom and its partner responsibility the obligation to others and to one s self to do what is right and useful with a principled commitment to the Cornell community and to the world outside the Eddy Street gate

Mills, 2021-11-02 The conventional wisdom on how technology will change the future is wrong Mark Mills lays out a radically different and optimistic vision for what's really coming The mainstream forecasts fall into three camps One considers today as the new normal where ordering a ride or food on a smartphone or trading in bitcoins is as good as it's going to get Another foresees a dystopian era of widespread digitally driven job and business destruction A third believes that the only technological revolution that matters will be found with renewable energy and electric cars But according to Mills a convergence of technologies will instead drive an economic boom over the coming decade one that historians will characterize as the Roaring 2020s It will come not from any single big invention but from the confluence of radical advances in three primary technology domains microprocessors materials and machines Microprocessors are increasingly embedded in everything Materials from which everything is built are emerging with novel almost magical capabilities And machines which make and move all manner of stuff are undergoing a complementary transformation Accelerating and enabling all of this is the Cloud history's biggest infrastructure which is itself based on the building blocks of next generation microprocessors and artificial intelligence We've seen this pattern before The technological revolution that drove the great economic expansion of the twentieth century can be traced to a similar confluence one that was first visible in the 1920s a new information infrastructure telephony new machines cars and power plants and new materials plastics and pharmaceuticals Single inventions don't drive great long cycle booms It always takes convergent revolutions in technology's three core spheres information materials and machines Over history that's only happened a few times We have wrung much magic from the technologies that fueled the last long boom But the great convergence now underway will ignite the 2020s And this time unlike any previous historical epoch we have the Cloud amplifying everything The next long boom starts now

Coasts and Estuaries Eric Wolanski, John W. Day, Michael Elliott, Ramachandran Ramesh, 2019-01-24 Coasts and Estuaries The Future provides valuable information on how we can protect and maintain natural ecological structures while also allowing estuaries to deliver services that produce societal goods and benefits These issues are addressed through chapters detailing case studies from estuaries and coastal waters worldwide presenting a full range of natural variability and human pressures Following this a series of chapters written by scientific leaders worldwide synthesizes the problems and offers solutions for specific issues graded within the framework of the socio-economic environmental mosaic These include fisheries climate change coastal megacities evolving human nature interactions remediation measures and integrated coastal management The problems faced by half of the world living near coasts are truly a worldwide challenge as well as an opportunity for scientists to study commonalities and differences and provide solutions This book is centered around the proposed DAPSI W R M framework where drivers of basic human needs requires activities that each produce pressures The pressures are mechanisms of state change on the natural system and Impacts on societal welfare including well being These problems then require responses which are the solutions relating to governance socio-economic and cultural measures Scharin et al 2016 Covers estuaries and coastal seas worldwide integrating their commonality differences and solutions for sustainability Includes global case studies from leading worldwide contributors with accompanying boxes highlighting a synopsis about a particular estuary and coastal sea making all information easy to find Presents full color images to aid the reader in a better understanding of details of each case study Provides a multi-disciplinary approach linking biology physics climate and social sciences
