

Teaching Philosophy

~Mae Guerra, Experienced Educator

As I reflect upon my teaching career, it is evident that my philosophy in management systems has been greatly influenced by my mentors and colleagues. They have influenced my teaching philosophy because they have developed strong pedagogies with the knowledge to support it, they have set high academic standards for students and for themselves, they have respected intellectual diversity inside and outside the classroom, and they build trust among their students.

My management system philosophy is created from these ideas which are divided into six areas: (1) a positive learning environment, (2) clear expectations, standards and goals, (3) differentiated instruction through modification, (4) ongoing assessment, (5) self-improvement through lifelong learning, and (6) presenting a variety of learning materials to all students.

I believe in creating a positive learning environment in which respect for others is fundamental in promoting intellectual diversity. Respecting and promoting intellectual diversity requires a deeper understanding of how diversity manifests inside and outside of the classroom. Because students bring a diverse set of worldviews to the classroom, I believe that it is the teacher's responsibility to take neutral stances on controversial material, political issues, and general societal issues as well. I play the role of moderator and mentor instead of activist. Taking a neutral stance also acts to challenge students' intellectual abilities. Consequently, it presents students with a positive learning environment where they must use logic and reason to develop positions and counter positions.

I also believe that teachers should set specific and clear expectations, standards and goals from the very first day of the class. Once they are set, they should be adhered to throughout the remainder of the year. I believe setting high standards for students is an important way to get students to rise to their potential. Teachers should also set specific goals for students. Long term goals for students should be set early and should continue over time, allowing students to use what they are learning later in life.

Along with setting standards for students, I create standards for myself as well. One important standard that I have set for myself is giving students a clear indication on how they will be graded. Overall, setting clear standards helps limit grading bias and instances where students may try to take advantage of a teacher's generosity. Teachers should make an extra effort to present class materials in a variety of formats to aid in differentiated

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice Elizabeth DeJuliis, 2024-06-01

When most people think of professionalism ethics or moralism they often think of a set of rules for distinguishing between right and wrong such as the proverbial Golden Rule However the true definition of professionalism is not an easy one and it is not necessarily black and white In fact it could be argued that it is often easier to describe what is not professional versus what is professional It could also be disputed that although professionalism can be recognized when you see it you may not necessarily be able to put your finger on what it is exactly

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice by Dr Elizabeth D DeJuliis provides an overview of the wide ranging knowledge skills and attitudes that encompass professionalism across the occupational therapy profession While there is no formal endorsed definition of professionalism in occupational therapy practice suggestions are provided to serve as a blueprint for use

Professionalism in occupational therapy practice is a dynamic sophistication exemplified by a combination of an individual's personal skill set knowledge behaviors and attitudes and the adoption of the moral and ethical values of the profession and society Dr DeJuliis illustrates the concept of professionalism as a unique combination of intrinsic and extrinsic qualities surrounding key constructs of ethics responsibility competency and behavior

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice discusses these various expectations in the academic setting the clinic workplace and in general society

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice utilizes a developmental approach to teaching and learning paralleling the Revised Bloom's Taxonomy 2001 This classification system provides a graded holistic methodology to human teaching and learning The concept of professionalism will be exemplified by using both a knowledge based approach to subject matter requiring higher level learning such as metacognition which is a crucial component of professionalism The chapter objectives and learning activities will challenge the reader to recall comprehend apply analysis synthesize evaluate and create knowledge directly to their context

Instructors in educational settings can visit www.efacultylounge.com for additional materials such as informative appendices and resources include sample statements for syllabi policy manuals resume and CV templates interview guidelines professional development plans and more to be used for teaching in the classroom

Occupational Therapy practitioners at all levels including fieldwork educators leaders managers and researchers will also benefit

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice as it provides a synopsis of professional expectations beyond the classroom and fieldwork setting Due to recent changes in healthcare educational standards and societal influence the expectation of professionalism has been under greater scrutiny across health and social care professions
