

Laboratory Activity #1 — Student Laboratory Packet

Relationships and Biodiversity*A Laboratory Activity for the Living EnvironmentIntroduction

Botana curus is a valuable plant because it produces Curol, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curol cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botana curus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide Curol in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botana curus are more likely to produce the important substance Curol. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) may be related to Botana curus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species, Botana curus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance Curol

Safety

- You will need to wear goggles while conducting Tests 4 and 5.
- Do not eat or drink anything in the laboratory while doing this laboratory activity.

Important Note: Record all of your data and answers on these laboratory sheets. You will need to keep them for review before the Regents Examination. Later, you will need to transfer your answers to a separate Student Answer Packet. Your teacher will use the packet in grading your work, and the school will retain it as evidence of your completion of the laboratory requirement for the Living Environment Regents Examination.

Structural Evidence for Relationships

Perform the following tests and record your observations in Table 1 on page 8 of this packet. Use a hand lens or microscope as needed.

Test 1-Structural Characteristics of Plants

- Do not remove the plant samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the plant samples. Record your observations in Table 1 (see page 8).

Test 2-Structural Characteristics of Seeds

- Do not remove the seed samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the seed samples. Record your observations in Table 1.

"Relationships and Biodiversity" is a laboratory activity produced by the State Education Department for use in fulfilling part of the laboratory requirement for the Regents Examination in Living Environment. Reproducing any part of this laboratory activity by other than New York State school personnel is illegal.

Advancing the forest and water nexus Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-10-18 Forests are intrinsically linked to water forested watersheds provide 75 percent of our accessible freshwater resources Millennium Ecosystem Assessment 2005 and both forest and water resources are relevant to the achievement of all 17 Sustainable Development Goals Despite the important interlinkages the forest water nexus is often unaccounted for in policy and planning For example three quarters of forests are not managed for soil and water conservation which poses a fundamental challenge to achieving sustainable and resilient communities and ecosystems It is paramount to employ an integrated approach to forest and water resources in management and policy that takes into account the complexity and contextual nature of forest water relationships To achieve this we must improve our understanding of forest water relationships within local contexts and at different scales as well as our ability to design implement and learn from landscape approaches that both rely on these forest water relationships and impact them In this context FAO's Forest and Water Programme has developed a module based capacity development facilitation guide for project and community stakeholders involved in forest water and natural resource management to ensure we apply our knowledge to better manage forests and trees for their multiple benefits including water quantity quality and the associated socio economic benefits that people within and outside forests so heavily depend on Sustainable Forest Management John L. Innes, Anna V. Tikina, 2016-12-19 Sustainable Forest Management provides the necessary material to educate students about forestry and the contemporary role of forests in ecosystems and society This comprehensive textbook on the concept and practice of sustainable forest management sets the standard for practice worldwide Early chapters concentrate on conceptual aspects relating sustainable forestry management to international policy In particular they consider the concept of criteria and indicators and how this has determined the practice of forest management taken here to be the management of forested lands and of all ecosystems present on such lands Later chapters are more practical in focus concentrating on the management of the many values associated with forests Overall the book provides a major new synthesis which will serve as a textbook for undergraduates of forestry as well as those from related disciplines such as ecology or geography who are taking a course in forests or natural resource management Oswaal NEET (UG) 36 Years Chapter-wise Topic-wise Solved Papers Biology For 2024 Exams (New Edition) Oswaal Editorial Board, 2024-01-23 Description of the product 100% Updated with Fully Solved 2023 Paper Additional Concepts and Questions from New Syllabus Extensive Practice with 2500 Chapter wise Questions 1988-2023 2 Practice Question Papers Crisp Revision with Revision Notes Mind Maps Mnemonics Appendix Valuable Exam Insights with
