Enabling regulatory frameworks for contract farming Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-03-11

FAO's previous contribution to the development of contract farming saw the publication in 2015 of the UNIDROIT FAO IFAD Legal Guide on Contract Farming which focused on the bilateral relationship between an agricultural producer and a contractor This Legislative Study develops that research and focuses on the regulatory frameworks for contract farming aiming to highlight different possible approaches for different contexts Responsible contract farming can be a powerful tool for small scale farmers in developing countries to move towards larger scale commercial production It can create economic wealth contribute to supply chain efficiency through the production of higher quantities of better quality products and contribute to achieving domestic food security objectives Maximizing these benefits while minimizing the inherent risks of contract farming is reliant upon the forging of an enabling environment a key part of which is the domestic regulatory framework This Legislative Study provides guidance to domestic regulators and other interested readers on how to appraise and potentially reform domestic regulatory frameworks to achieve responsible contract farming Recognising that different countries and contextual realities may benefit from different regulatory solutions this Study provides several examples supported by representative case studies on how contract farming can be regulated without promoting a single solution as the most appropriate Please visit FAO's Contract Farming Resource Centre <http://www.fao.org/in-action/contract-farming/en> which is a regularly updated website hosting a variety of material on contract farming both from FAO and from other recognized authors

Handbook of Marital Therapy: A Positive Approach to Helping Troubled Relationships Robert P. Liberman, Eugene G. Wheeler, Louis A.J.M. de Visser, Julie Kuehnelt, Timothy Kuehnelt, 2013-11-21

In the treatment of marital problems behaviorally oriented and communication oriented approaches have been in conflict and seen as contrasting and unlikely bed partners Many therapists focusing on communication skills have felt that behaviorists were too structured and uncaring on the other hand behaviorists have considered humanistic therapists as being touchy feely vague and unfocused However in the Handbook of Marital Therapy Liberman Wheeler de Visser and the Kuehnelts have wedded these two potent approaches into an integrated framework that makes them loving bed partners With over a decade of experience in applying behaviorally oriented treatment to couples Liberman and his co authors have developed an educational model that focuses on teaching specific communication skills to couples The communication skills they describe have been used extensively in all types of marital therapy regardless of the therapist's theoretical orientation The unique contribution of this book is that the authors provide a step by step approach to teaching these communication skills within a behavioral framework Each chapter guides the therapist through the many issues and problems confronting him or her as a change agent This highly readable book is enhanced by a liberal use of case examples Emphasis is given to homework and structured sessions that focus on increasing specific communication skills in a sequential manner The advantages of working with couples in a group setting are discussed and concrete suggestions on how to manage these groups are clearly presented
