Science Teachers' Learning National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Teacher Advisory Council, Board on Science Education, Committee on Strengthening Science Education through a Teacher Learning Continuum, 2016-01-15 Currently many states are adopting the Next Generation Science Standards NGSS or are revising their own state standards in ways that reflect the NGSS For students and schools the implementation of any science standards rests with teachers For those teachers an evolving understanding about how best to teach science represents a significant transition in the way science is currently taught in most classrooms and it will require most science teachers to change how they teach That change will require learning opportunities for teachers that reinforce and expand their knowledge of the major ideas and concepts in science their familiarity with a range of instructional strategies and the skills to implement those strategies in the classroom Providing these kinds of learning opportunities in turn will require profound changes to current approaches to supporting teachers learning across their careers from their initial training to continuing professional development A teacher's capability to improve students scientific understanding is heavily influenced by the school and district in which they work the community in which the school is located and the larger professional communities to which they belong Science Teachers Learning provides guidance for schools and districts on how best to support teachers learning and how to implement successful programs for professional development This report makes actionable recommendations for science teachers learning that take a broad view of what is known about science education how and when teachers learn and education policies that directly and indirectly shape what teachers are able to learn and teach The challenge of developing the expertise teachers need to implement the NGSS presents an opportunity to rethink

professional learning for science teachers Science Teachers Learning will be a valuable resource for classrooms departments schools districts and professional organizations as they move to new ways to teach science

High-Stakes Teaching Terri Hebert, Sherry Durham, 2008-10-17 Based upon the research of 45 interviews conducted in Texas and Arkansas High Stakes Teaching presents strategies that successfully blend child centered and test centered teaching into one focus creating a consistently high quality instructional environment The teachers described offer their students an invitation to enter the realm of learning expectantly Through their words we visualize the educational scaffolding process as students foster a love and an appreciation of critical thinking that promises to remain long after the last test question has been answered Best practices emerge and are shared with the reader Reflective questions and commentaries provide educators an opportunity to investigate their own philosophies of accountability testing and its place in the classroom This study offers the support and guidelines necessary to break the cycle of teaching to the test Let each educator teach so that every child can become an engaged learner an explorer an individual who recognizes and respects the opportunities available from gaining a real education that is not merely a cookie cutter mantra

Assessment-Centered Teaching Kathryn DiRanna, 2008-03-07

Valuable for practitioners who wish to improve their teaching and their students learning and for researchers concerned with putting ideas of formative assessment into teaching practice Richard J Shavelson Margaret Jack Professor of EducationStanford University Drawing from conceptual principles and empirical findings that establish the crucial role of ongoing formative assessment the authors describe a professional development framework and program that prepares teachers to adjust their teaching to student thinking in the moment and to refine assessments to better reveal students understandings throughout instruction Joan I Heller DirectorHeller Research Associates A reflective process for integrating assessment and instruction Because assessment and instruction are two sides of the same coin it is critical for teachers to not only assess what students understand but also use that information to adjust their teaching Assessment Centered Teaching ACT is a unique practice that allows teachers to gather information during instruction to uncover learning gaps and guide students toward deeper understandings of complex ideas Suitable for all grade levels this resource describes how reflective practitioners can use the ACT portfolio to reflect on modify and improve their curriculum and instruction The forms included on the CD ROM guide teachers through the process This book encourages educators to Reflect on their own practice Systematically examine student progress toward identified learning goals over time Monitor instruction and assessment for continuous improvement Assessment Centered Teaching helps teachers professional developers and school teams establish quality instructional goals and implement ongoing formative assessment to promote student success

Teacher Education with an Attitude Patrick J. Finn,Mary E. Finn,2012-03-27 Using a social justice approach to teacher education the contributing teacher educators address the need to prepare teachers to understand the way social class race and culture impact their efforts to educate working class students By helping prepare teachers to strengthen democracy through education the contributors offer ways to help them develop critical consciousness the will to address society s injustices and inequities Teachers who collaborate actively with their students their families and others such as community and labor organizers to challenge the economic and educational policies that keep the hierarchical structure in place develop their own educational and political power alongside their students These educators see schools as sites of struggle for democracy and their students learn to direct their attitude toward outcomes that are in their collective self interest
