Trust Protectors: A Practice Manual with Forms Alexander A. Bove, Jr., 2014-09-01

The trust protector is generally regarded as a relatively new position in trust law and the key feature of the position is that the protector may be granted powers over the trust which are generally superior to those of the trustee This places the protector in a position where by the exercise of his powers he can cause the trust to adjust to unforeseen changes or new conditions without the need for court action or beneficiary approval This work takes the firm position that with only limited exception the role of the protector is a fiduciary one imposing on the protector a duty to act in the best interests of the purposes of the trust and the beneficiaries Unfortunately a substantial segment of the legal community as well as the legislative bodies of a number of international jurisdictions have taken a position that the protector is not a fiduciary or that he may be declared in the trust not to be a fiduciary and that the power granted him under the trust may be declared to be personal powers whether or not such is the case and thus he would have no liability for his actions or inactions while serving as protector This attraction of providing total exculpation of the protector has effectively engendered a quick acceptance of the position by the bulk of the legal community and even by the legislatures of a number of jurisdictions though almost totally unsupported by relevant case law As a result we have been seeing trusts which incorporate the use of a protector having the power to make critical dispositive and administrative decisions as well as extensive modifications to the trusts without being exposed to liability for negligence or bad decisions which result in damages This work will examine in detail the role of the protector of the trust the relationship between the protector and the trustee between the protector and the beneficiaries and the protector s responsibilities to the purposes of the trust It will demonstrate with legal support that the role of the protector is not a new role that in fact the protector is simply a new name for the decades old position of trust advisor and that the trust advisor is consistently regarded as a fiduciary in relevant treatises and has been repeatedly held to be a fiduciary in relevant cases The discussion will also review and analyze the historical issues and professional commentary relevant to trust law and the role of protector as well as case decisions in various international jurisdictions which have shed light on the issues and some of the positions taken in the statutes of a number of jurisdictions in the United States and across the world All legal aspects of the role will be examined including the rights of the protector the protector s relationship to the trustee and the courts regard for and treatment of the position Further the work will discuss in detail all of the practical considerations in using a protector such as selection and special drafting considerations the use of a protector in a foundation and in brief the numerous tax issues that may apply The conclusion will be that with only very limited exception which will be explained the protector is unquestionably a fiduciary and just as a trustee he should be held to fiduciary standards Accordingly while it is certainly possible to grant personal powers to an individual under a trust those powers per se conflict with the duties of a protector And while it is also possible to reduce the fiduciary liability of a protector to a minimum it is not possible to eliminate it entirely regardless of trust language attempting to do so

Architecture in an Age of Uncertainty Benjamin Flowers, 2016-04-15 In the past two decades economic bubbles inflated and architectural spending around the globe reached fever pitch In both well established centers of capital accumulation and far flung locales audacious building projects sprang up while the skyscraper heretofore more commonly associated with American capitalism seemed as if it might pack up and relocate to Dubai and Shanghai Of course much has changed in the past couple of years In formerly free spending Dubai the tallest building in the world is now named after the president of Abu Dhabi after he stepped in with last minute debt financing In cities across the United States housing prices have nose dived and cleared lots sit ready for commercial redevelopment that likely won t take place for another decade Similar stories are not hard to find in many other nations Architecture firms that swelled in flush days are jettisoning employees at a startling rate In the context of economic instability and its attendant social and political consequences this edited volume brings together scholars critics and architects to discuss the present state of uncertainty in the practice and discipline of architecture The chapters are organized into three main areas of inquiry economics practice and technology Within this larger framework authors explore issues of security ecological design disaster architecture the future of architectural practice and the ethical obligations of the social practice of design In doing so it argues that this period has actually afforded architecture a valuable moment of self reflection where alternative directions for both the theory and practice of architecture might be explored rather than continuing with an approach which was so nurtured by capitalist prosperity and affluence
