Tams, Jörg Philipp Terhechte, Andreas R. Ziegler, 2024-10-17 The focus of volume 14 of the EYIEL is on Public Procurement and Competition Law in European and International Economic Law It is testimony to the fact that areas of law originally perceived as purely economic are permeated by the challenges of society today and adapting to these by embracing innovation promoting sustainability and social responsibility and including new values in their legal constitutions Thus the focus section provides a broad spectrum of contributions considering the interaction between public procurement law and WTO law the role of RTAs the inclusion of sustainability aspects as well as the influence recent development and challenges such as the Covid 19 pandemic and climate change have on public procurement and competition policy In its general section the EYIEL considers Current Challenges Developments and Events in European and International Economic Law It provides a cross section of recent developments touching upon the Next Generation EU food commodification new regulatory approaches to geographical indications the interaction between investment law and human rights as well as the newest developments with regard to Public Private Partnership Legislation The Relationship of WTO Law and Regional Trade Agreements in Dispute Settlement: From Fragmentation to Coherence Malebakeng Agnes Forere, 2015-10-12 It is becoming increasingly evident that traditional sovereignty is simply out of date. Instead, what we might call cooperative sovereignty, which focuses on communication and interaction, is more responsive to the realities of interdependent economies in the twenty-first century. Nowhere is this more salient than in the area of dispute resolution, especially as labour, intellectual property, and the environment can no longer be evaded in trade negotiations. This ground-breaking book suggests that it is this shift in perspective that has given rise to the proliferation of Regional Trade Agreements (RTAs) and the inevitable overlaps and tensions between their provisions and those of the World Trade Organization (WTO). The author examines this phenomenon in great detail and offers viable recommendations to restore coherence in the global trading system without upsetting the rights and obligations of WTO Member States. Because the WTO and RTAs must be viewed as layers of one system and must therefore have a relationship that extends to dispute settlement, such principles of subsidiarity as autonomy, mutual assistance, and flexibility are key to a successful institutional relationship between the WTO and RTAs. From this theoretical springboard, the author proceeds to analyse the following issues and more: the relationship between WTO and RTAs based on Article XXIV of GATT; the extent to which WTO panels can apply RTA law; the extent to which the WTO panels can hear RTA claims; opportunity for RTA Members to secure preliminary rulings and advisory opinions from the WTO; recognition by WTO panels of the results of litigation or arbitration that took place at the RTA level; opportunity for RTA Members to appeal RTA dispute settlement decisions to the WTO; and clarification of WTO rules designed to enable RTA activities or intervene if necessary. Major cases decided at the WTO and RTA levels that manifest conflict between RTAs and the WTO are fully analysed. Confronting directly the stagnation in negotiating and concluding new trade agreements at the multilateral level and the fragmentation of the international trade law system, this important book shows clearly how the institutional relationship between the WTO and RTAs can be restructured with a view to establishing mutual recognition of the judgments of both. In a nutshell, the book calls for reconfiguration of the WTO Dispute Settlement Body to perform functions of a World Trade Court that is capable of hearing disputes arising between WTO Members, RTA Members, and Non-WTO Members. It will prove invaluable to all involved in the negotiation and implementation of trade agreements at every level.

Coherence and Divergence in Services Trade Law Rhea Tamara Hoffmann, Markus Krajewski, 2020-07-23 This book addresses topical questions concerning the legal framework of trade in services and assesses how these issues are dealt with in GATS and in selected preferential trade agreements In addition the chapters discuss whether the differences and similarities if any are evidence of greater coherence or greater divergence The book combines the individual analyses to provide a more comprehensive picture of the current law on services trade liberalisation A quarter of a century after the conclusion of the General Agreement on Trade and Services GATS international law on trade in services is still in a state of flux on the one hand countries increasingly conclude bilateral and regional trade agreements with sections on trade in services that aim at a further liberalisation of services trade On the other the GATS structure remains the dominant model and serves as the basis for many preferential trade agreements In addition new aspects such as electronic commerce data protection and taxation are now emerging while issues that had already manifested in the mid 1990s such as financial services regulation labour mobility and telecommunications continue to be problematic Usually the debates focus on the question of whether preferential trade agreements serve as a stepping stone or stumbling block for trade liberalisation at the multilateral level However it can be assumed that rules on trade in services in preferential trade agreements will coexist with the global GATS regime for the foreseeable future This raises the question of whether we are currently witnessing a drive towards greater coherence or more divergence in agreements on trade in services world's Sustainable Development Goals International Economic Law Mariela de Amstalden, Niall Moran, Henok Asmelash, 2023-12-12 This volume considers novel emerging issues in international economic law as well as new methodological approaches to more familiar topics. It brings together a diverse range of contributors from five continents who share invaluable perspectives on a wide range of issues in international economic governance. In doing so, this volume delves deeply into some of the most challenging emerging areas in international economic law, approaching them from an interdisciplinary perspective that brings together legal, economic, and political analysis. Intended for academics and practitioners at all stages of their careers, many of the areas considered in this volume are either entirely new or are being revisited after periods of dormancy. It is our hope that these contributions will yield fresh insights into these new and classic areas of IEL. We consider diversity and inclusivity foundational values in IEL. The wealth of ideas showcased in this volume present us with an opportunity to appreciate different facets of originality and rigour in legal academic writing, further highlighting the range of methodological and stylistic preferences of emerging legal scholars in IEL. In June 2022, forty emerging international economic law scholars were selected to present their papers at PEPA SIEL, where they received feedback from senior members of the SIEL community and beyond. The discussions were lively, stimulating, and enriching, leading the editors of this volume to propose putting a selection of the papers into a published book. The Oxford Handbook of International Trade Law, 2022-11-17 The rules and regulations governing international trade have grown at an exponential rate in the years since the Uruguay Round agreements established the WTO in 1995. These agreements continue to act as the multilateral foundation of the body of law which is being expanded by its own committees and in new arrangements. As the international trade law system grows, it comes under increasing scrutiny from scholars, government officials, and trade law practitioners. It raises questions about the overlap with other international legal, political, and economic regimes. This Handbook considers the system of international trade law and what it means for States, for economic systems, for other international regimes, for civil society, and for human welfare. The book opens by focusing on the regulation of international trade, considering the history, economics, and sources of international trade law, as well as the possibilities for the future. It considers the intersection of international trade law with States, the economic and institutional context of the world trading system, the framework of its substantive law, and the balance of trade objectives versus ethical responsibilities. The book concludes by offering analysis of new trade law developments in the agricultural, digital, and financial sectors, as well as outlining the settlement of trade law disputes both in the WTO and bilateral regional trade agreements. The second edition broadens the scope of analysis beyond the WTO, analysing regional trade agreements and preferential trade arrangements, including the Trans-Pacific Partnership and Canada-EU Trade Agreement. The new edition also considers developments within the WTO, such as in the area of agricultural export subsidies and the Trade Facilitation Agreement.

Europe, East Asia and APEC Peter Drysdale, David Vines, 1998-05-21. This book is the first in a major new series examining Global Economic Institutions and contrasts regional economic integration in the Asia Pacific Region and in Europe. In the Asia Pacific Region, regionalism is developing by means of open regionalism, which is different from the regionalism which has developed in Europe through the construction of a single European Market and Monetary Union within the European Union. In the light of this contrast, a number of important contemporary policy questions are considered.
