Portfolio Construction And Risk Budgeting:

Portfolio Construction and Risk Budgeting Bernd Scherer, 2002 It provides the key concepts and methods to implement quantitatively driven portfolio construction Areas include satellite investing estimation error heuristics scenario optimisation mean variance investing Bayesian methods budgeting active risk non normality and multiple manager allocation The emphasis is on practical applications and problem solving written in a highly accessible style The title contains quantitative analysis that is supported by extensive examples tables and charts to help practitioners adopt the subject matter in their day to day work Handbook of Portfolio Construction John B. Guerard, Jr., 2009-12-12 Portfolio construction is fundamental to the investment management process In the 1950s Harry Markowitz demonstrated the benefits of efficient diversification by formulating a mathematical program for generating the efficient frontier to summarize optimal trade offs between expected return and risk The Markowitz framework continues to be used as a basis for both practical portfolio construction and emerging research in financial economics Such concepts as the Capital Asset Pricing Model CAPM and the Arbitrage Pricing Theory APT for example provide the foundation for setting benchmarks for predicting returns and risk and for performance measurement This volume showcases original essays by some of today's most prominent academics and practitioners in the field on the contemporary application of Markowitz techniques Covering a wide spectrum of topics including portfolio selection data mining tests and multi factor risk models the book presents a comprehensive approach to portfolio construction tools models frameworks and analyses with both practical and theoretical implications A

Generalized Risk Budgeting Approach to Portfolio Construction Martin Brendan Haugh, 2016 Risk based asset allocation models have received considerable attention in recent years This increased popularity is due in part to the difficulty in estimating expected returns as well as the financial crisis of 2008 which has helped reinforce the key role of risk in asset allocation In this study we propose a generalized risk budgeting GRB approach to portfolio construction In a GRB portfolio assets are grouped into possibly overlapping subsets and each subset is allocated a pre specified risk budget Minimum variance risk parity and risk budgeting portfolios are all special instances of a GRB portfolio The GRB portfolio optimization problem is to find a GRB portfolio with an optimal risk return profile where risk is measured using any positively homogeneous risk measure When the subsets form a partition the assets all have the same expected return and we restrict ourselves to long only portfolios then the GRB problem can in fact be solved as a convex optimization problem In general however the GRB problem is a constrained non convex problem for which we propose two solution approaches The first approach uses a semidefinite programming SDP relaxation to obtain an upper bound on the optimal objective function value In the second approach we develop a numerical algorithm that integrates augmented Lagrangian and Markov chain Monte Carlo MCMC methods in order to find a point in the vicinity of a very good local optimum This point is then supplied to a standard non linear optimization routine with the goal of finding this local optimum It should be emphasized that the merit of this second approach is in its generic nature in particular it provides a starting point strategy for any non linear optimization algorithm

Extreme Events Malcolm Kemp,2011-10-04 Taking due account of extreme events when constructing portfolios of assets or liabilities is a key discipline for market professionals Extreme events are a fact of life in how markets operate In Extreme Events Robust Portfolio Construction in the Presence of Fat Tails leading expert Malcolm Kemp shows readers how to analyse market data to uncover fat tailed behaviour how to incorporate expert judgement in the handling of such information and how to refine portfolio construction methodologies to make portfolios less vulnerable to extreme events or to benefit more from them This is the only text that combines a comprehensive treatment of modern risk budgeting and portfolio construction techniques with the specific refinements needed for them to handle extreme events It explains in a logical sequence what constitutes fat tailed behaviour and why it arises how we can analyse such behaviour at aggregate sector or instrument level and how we can then take advantage of this analysis Along the way it provides a rigorous comprehensive and clear development of traditional portfolio construction methodologies applicable if fat tails are absent It then explains how to refine these methodologies to accommodate real world behaviour Throughout the book highlights the importance of expert opinion showing that even the most data centric portfolio construction approaches ultimately depend on practitioner assumptions about how the world might behave The book includes Key concepts and methods involved in analysing extreme events A comprehensive treatment of mean variance investing Bayesian methods market consistent approaches risk budgeting and their application to manager and instrument selection A systematic development of the refinements needed to traditional portfolio construction methodologies to cater for fat tailed behaviour Latest developments in stress testing and back testing methodologies A strong focus on the practical implementation challenges that can arise at each step in the process and on how to overcome these challenges Understanding how to model and analyse the risk of extreme events is a crucial part of the risk management process This book provides a set of techniques that allow practitioners to do this comprehensively Paul Sweeting Professor of Actuarial Science University of Kent How can the likeliness of crises affect the construction of portfolios This question is highly topical in times where we still have to digest the last financial collapse Malcolm Kemp gives the answer His book is highly recommended to experts as well as to students in the financial field Christoph Krischanitz President Actuarial Association of Austria Chairman WG Market Consistency of Groupe Consultatif
