What is a service-learning project?

According to Vanderbilt University, service learning is defined as: "A form of experiential education where learning occurs through a cycle of [investigation], action and reflection as students seek to achieve real objectives for the community and deeper understanding and skills for themselves."

Wikipedia explains service learning as: "An educational approach that combines learning objectives with community service in order to provide a pragmatic [(practical)], progressive learning experience while meeting societal needs."

Service learning can help you become a better learner, classmate, and citizen, and can help you make a valuable contribution to your community.

"We need your service, right now, at this moment in history. I'm not going to tell you what your role should be; that's for you to discover. But I am asking you to stand up and play your part. I am asking you to help change history's course".

- President Barack Obama, upon signing the Edward M. Kennedy Serve America Act, 2009.
