

Peer Pressure Power

By Lynn Brunelle

Going along with the crowd doesn't have to be a risky move.

Ever done something you didn't want to do, just to fit in? Or just because your friends wanted you to? That's peer pressure. And just about everyone feels it at one time or another.

Peers are people your age, such as your friends, who have experiences similar to yours. Your peers influence your decisions and behavior every day, and they can push you to make bad choices, even dangerous ones. But is peer pressure always bad?

Positive Spin on Peer Pressure

"Peer pressure can sometimes be a good thing," says Ian Brennan, cocreator and one of the writers of the TV show Glee. That show deals with the issue of peer pressure all the time, through the experiences of musical kids in a not-so-popular high school chorus. "Friends can give you the courage to try something you normally wouldn't, like a new sport or auditioning for the school play," Brennan points out.

Nicole S., 18, of Edmore, N.D., used to be afraid of singing in front of people. One time, her friends convinced her to sing karaoke with them. She ended up having fun! "Now I will sing anywhere, even with people present. Positive peer pressure helped me face my fear," she says.

Pressure's On!

You are surrounded by your peers all the time, and you learn a lot—both good and bad—by just being around them. You might admire a star athlete. Maybe you notice the popular kids at school and look up to them. Those aren't necessarily bad things. The popular group could be really nice; the athlete, a hard worker. Being inspired and influenced by different peer groups could help you in the long run.

The people around you can also be negative influences, however. Maybe a star teammate tells you never to pass the ball to a certain player, or a popular student cheats on tests or sends mean texts. Should you try to be like them to fit in?
