Looking at suburbs as places of creativity gives rise to novel and thought provoking narratives that typically run counter to the idea that suburbs are sites of ordinary mundane and everyday practices Far from being geographies of nowhere dull materialistic and monotone suburbs are unpacked as being heterogeneous and historically layered places of living work and creation Situating creativity in place and time Creativity from Suburban Nowheres displaces mainstream understandings of creativity and widespread stereotypes commonly associated with the suburbs Contributors explore the particular forms of creativity that suburbs elicit both in the process of their making materialization and community construction and in the myriad ways in which suburbs are inhabited and experienced They highlight accounts of suburbs as places that give people the space and latitude to shape individual and collective identities through creative practices at odds with mainstream culture and often remote from the classic agglomeration assets associated with inner cities Anchored in historical and geographical research this volume highlights how and in what forms creativity should be understood in the suburbs why and when creativity can be found and how the notion of suburban creativity overthrows ingrained and dominant normative viewpoints Rather than seeing creativity arise despite its suburban location Creativity from Suburban Nowheres illuminates the emancipatory potential of suburbs for creativity Land Fictions D. on Terror practitioners of Islam in Europe and beyond have been scrutinised and surveyed under suspicion of disloyalty and as potential disrupters of national social cohesion. Seemingly benign altruistic practices such as charity are viewed as potential threats to national security and have increasingly become subject to counter terrorism policies. This work seeks to critically assess the assumptions behind the lesser known financial War on Terror through exploration of the effects of current policies on Muslim charitable practices in the UK. The consequences of current policies are multi faceted from the stigmatization and suspicion of Muslim charities and communities individual loss of status and financial standing to a decrease of living standards and or loss of lives. Engaging with the everyday socio political activities of Muslim individuals this book gives voice to the motivations apprehensions and challenges faced by Muslim charitable practitioners. A must read for anyone wanting to challenge policy assumptions behind increased surveillance of charities and individual donors whilst outlining the repercussions of current policies on Muslim individuals and charities.

No Borders Natasha King, 2016-10-15

From the streets of Calais to the borders of Melilla Evros and the United States the slogan No borders is a thread connecting a multitude of different struggles for the freedom to move and to stay. But what does it mean to make this slogan a reality. Drawing on the author's extensive research in Greece and Calais as well as a decade campaigning for migrant rights Natasha King explores the different forms of activism that have emerged in the struggle against border controls and the dilemmas these activists face in translating their principles into practice. Wide ranging and interdisciplinary No Borders constitutes vital reading for anyone interested in how we make radical alternatives to the state a genuine possibility for our times and raises crucial questions on the nature of resistance.

European Energy Security and US-Russian Competition Ioanna Mavromati, 2025-10-31

This book argues that the influence of US Russian security competition on the energy policies of EU member states and on the development of a unified European energy security policy has been significantly underestimated. While most previous studies have focused on internal EU dynamics and the role of Russian interests this work takes a broader perspective by examining how transatlantic rivalries have shaped European approaches to energy security. By tracing the evolution of European energy security policy from the Cold War era through the present the book connects shifts in policy to the changing dynamics of US Soviet and later US Russian energy competition. It demonstrates that after the Soviet Union's collapse the United States did not initially view European reliance on Russian energy as a threat. However as US Russian competition intensified Washington increasingly framed Europe's dependence on Russian gas as a security risk and actively sought to block the expansion of Russian energy infrastructure into Europe. The book also explores how despite the EU's early treaties being energy focused energy security only became a central foreign policy concern for the Union in the mid 2000s. Ultimately the author argues that scholars of international relations must consider both great power dynamics and intra European factors to fully understand the development of European energy policy. The book will be of interest to students and researchers in geopolitics international relations energy politics regional studies and European studies.

Ageing with Smartphones in Urban Italy Shireen Walton, 2021-05-06 Who am I at this stage? Where am I and where should I be and how and where should I live? These questions which individuals ask themselves throughout their lives are among the central themes of this book which presents an anthropological account of the everyday experiences of age and ageing in an inner city neighbourhood in Milan and in places and spaces beyond. Ageing with Smartphones in Urban Italy explores ageing and digital technologies amidst a backdrop of rapid global technological innovation including mHealth, mobile health and smart cities and a number of wider socio-economic and technological transformations that have brought about significant changes in how people live, work and retire and how they communicate and care for each other. Based on 16 months of urban digital ethnographic research in Milan, the smartphone is shown to be a constant companion in of and for contemporary life. It accompanies people throughout the day and night and through individual and collective experiences of movement, change and rupture. Smartphone practices tap into and reflect the moral anxieties of the present moment while posing questions related to life values and purpose, identities and belonging, privacy and sociability. Through her extensive investigation, Shireen Walton argues that ageing with smartphones in this contemporary urban Italian context is about living with ambiguity, change and contradiction as well as developing curiosities about a changing world, our changing selves and changing relationships with and to others. Ageing with smartphones is about figuring out how best to live together differently.

Redefining Genocide Doctor Damien Short, 2016-06-15 In this highly controversial and original work, Damien Short systematically rethinks how genocide is and should be defined. Rather than focusing solely on a narrow conception of genocide as direct mass killing, through close empirical analysis of a number of under-discussed case studies including Palestine, Sri Lanka, Australia and Alberta, Canada, the book reveals the key role played by settler colonialism, capitalism, finite resources and the ecological crisis in driving genocidal social death on a global scale. Power, Piety, and People Michael Dumper, 2020-07-14 Conflicts in cities that have particular religious significance often become intense, protracted and violent. Why are holy cities so frequently contested and how can these conflicts be mediated and resolved? In Power, Piety, and People, Michael Dumper explores the causes and consequences of contemporary conflicts in holy cities. He explains how common features of holy cities such as powerful and autonomous religious hierarchies, income from religious endowments, the presence of sacred sites and the performance of ritual activities that affect other communities can combine to create tension. Power, Piety, and People offers five case studies of important disputes, beginning with Jerusalem, often seen as the paradigmatic example of a holy city in conflict. Dumper also discusses Cordoba where the Islamic history of its Mosque-Cathedral poses challenges to the control exercised by the Roman Catholic Church; Banaras where competing Muslim and Hindu claims to sacred sites threaten the fragile equilibrium that exists in the city; Lhasa where the Communist Party of China severely restricts the ancient practice of Tibetan Buddhism; and George Town in Malaysia, a rare example of a city with many different religious communities whose leaders have successfully managed intergroup conflicts. Applying the lessons drawn from these cities to a broader global urban landscape this book offers scholars and policy makers new insights into a pervasive category of conflict that often appears intractable

Everyone's Democracy Elliott Fullmer, 2022-09-14 While great strides have been made since the Founding years the United States continues to suffer from a high degree of political inequality Some citizens have a louder voice in their democracy than others Both the malapportioned Senate and Electoral College overrepresent Americans in small states while gerrymandered districts poorly convert votes into power in the House of Representatives More than four million Americans living in Washington D C and the territories lack representation in Congress while citizens everywhere face unnecessary burdens to cast ballots Biased media and questionable political funding render it difficult to hold elected officials accountable This book explores these formidable problems and identifies the path to securing a fairer more representative political system Sourcing solutions directly from the Constitution chapters outline the tools that could limit malapportionment expand voting rights control the influence of big donors and more Achieving these reforms however requires an engaged citizenry that demands change from those in power
