Physical Science Paper Grade 1 november 2014 Scope:

Pursuing quality education in Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine Francesca Gimigliano, Maria Gabriella Ceravolo, Jorge Lains, 2023-08-15 High quality rehabilitation care represents a constitutive element of health systems worldwide The harmonization of staff education both at the undergraduate and postgraduate level is a key element for ensuring the highest standard of rehabilitation care International bodies like the UEMS Board for Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine PRM or the International Society for PRM have already delivered regulatory documents setting standards in postgraduate PRM education The implementation of such rules is to be validated worldwide with special attention to low and middle income countries This Research Topic aims to stimulate awareness in the scientific community especially for those involved in postgraduate education and policy making decisions It will highlight the need for developing competency based education as a powerful mechanism to align education and training with health system priorities This holds particular value for resource limited countries where the knowledge and skills of rehabilitation doctors need to reflect not only the population s health profile but also the strengths and weaknesses e g workforce gaps and maldistributions of the health system This goal can be achieved through sharing experiences between those who have engaged themselves in the process of program development curriculum design and competency based education in rehabilitation Over the last 25 years the number of papers addressing the issue of residency education in PRM has exponentially increased testifying the interest towards the role of rehabilitation and more specifically of the PRM doctors as leaders of the rehabilitation team

The Comprehensive Guide to Science and Faith William A. Dembski, Casey Luskin, Joseph M. Holden, 2021-10-05 Science and Faith Can and Do Support Each Other Science and Christianity are often presented as opposites when in fact the order of the universe and the complexity of life powerfully testify to intelligent design With this comprehensive resource that includes the latest research you ll witness how the findings of scientists provide compelling reasons to acknowledge the mind and presence of a creator Featuring more than 45 entries by top caliber experts you ll better understand how scientific concepts like intelligent design are supported by evidence the scientific findings that support the history and accounts found in the Bible the biases that lead to scientific information being presented as a challenge rather than a complement to Christianity Whether you re looking for answers to your own questions or seeking to explain the case for intelligent design to others The Comprehensive Guide to Science and Faith is an invaluable apologetic tool that will help you explore and analyze the relevant facts research and theories in light of biblical truth

Big Data, Algorithms and Food Safety Salvatore Sapienza, 2022-10-20 This book identifies the principles that should be applied when processing Big Data in the context of food safety risk assessments Food safety is a critical goal in the protection of individuals right to health and the flourishing of the food and feed market Big Data is fostering new applications capable of enhancing the accuracy of food safety risk assessments An extraordinary amount of information is analysed to detect the existence or predict the likelihood of future risks also by means of machine learning algorithms Big Data and novel analysis techniques are topics of growing interest for food safety agencies including the European Food Safety Authority EFSA This wealth of information brings with it both opportunities and risks concerning the extraction of meaningful inferences from data However conflicting interests and tensions among the parties involved are hindering efforts to find shared methods for steering the processing of Big Data in a sound transparent and trustworthy way While consumers call for more transparency food business operators tend to be reluctant to share informational assets This has resulted in a considerable lack of trust in the EU food safety system A recent legislative reform supported by new legal cases aims to restore confidence in the risk analysis system by reshaping the meaning of data ownership in this domain While this regulatory approach is being established breakthrough analytics techniques are encouraging thinking about the next steps in managing food safety data in the age of machine learning The book focuses on two core topics data ownership and data governance by evaluating how the regulatory framework addresses the challenges raised by Big Data and its analysis in an applied significant and overlooked domain To do so it adopts an interdisciplinary approach that considers both the technological advances and the policy tools adopted in the European Union while also assuming an ethical perspective when exploring potential solutions The conclusion puts forward a proposal an ethical blueprint for identifying the principles Security Accountability Fairness Explainability

Transparency and Privacy to be observed when processing Big Data for food safety purposes including by means of machine learning Possible implementations are then discussed also in connection with two recent legislative proposals namely the Data Governance Act and the Artificial Intelligence Act Neuroinflammation and Behaviour Luba Sominsky,Adam K. Walker,Deborah M. Hodgson,2015-07-21 The brain and immune system are involved in an intricate network of bidirectional communication This relationship is vital for optimal physiological and psychological development and functioning but can also result in unwanted outcomes In particular this interaction plays an important role in cognition mood and behaviour Neuroinflammation is known to contribute to neurological and affective disorders including impaired learning and memory depressive anxiety and schizoaffective symptoms as well as pain The development of these conditions often occurs on the backdrop of pre existing physical illnesses which give rise to increased activation of the immune system such as cancer obesity infection and autoimmune disorders Similarly psychological states can alter regulation of the immune system This has been most extensively studied in the context of stress and immune function Understanding the underlying mechanisms that lead to the onset of inflammation induced neuropathology and stress induced immune suppression will contribute to the development of novel and effective treatment strategies for both the disease and its neurological side effects In this research topic we explored the relationship between the immune system and the brain throughout life We include both original research and review papers from animal clinical and molecular perspectives Putting science and engineering at the heart of government policy Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Innovation, Universities, Science and Skills Committee,2009-07-23 A report that considers the broad issue of why science and engineering are important and why they should be at the heart of Government policy It also considers three more specific issues the debate on strategic priorities the principles that inform science funding decisions and the scrutiny of science and engineering across Government

Decentralisation and Regional Development Eva Dick,Karin Gaesing,Daniel Inkoom,Teodoro Kausel,2016-06-15 This book analyzes decentralisation regional development paths and success factors in different governance sectors in Ghana the Philippines Tanzania and Chile and discuss overarching aspects of relevance Decentralisation which refers to the delegation of administrative responsibilities political decision making and fiscal powers to lower levels of government is now considered one of the most efficient engines of development In Sub Saharan Africa decentralised states have made more progress in reducing poverty than those states with lower decentralisation scores But in many countries decentralisation is still considered a work in progress with unsatisfactory results From a spatial point of view the link between decentralisation and regional and district development is particularly interesting Both in the North and in the South regional or district development is seen as holding the potential for advancing social and economic development and even more so in decentralised political settings Space based networks at the regional or district level are considered instrumental for responding to locally specific challenges e g in areas lagging behind economically Social Justice Loretta

Fountas Pinnell Level Z Gulf of Mexico Reefs: Past, Present and Future Adrienne M. S. Correa, Nancy Knowlton, Joshua D. Voss, Daniel M. Holstein, Rowan C. Martindale, 2021-09-28 Subterranean Estuaries Carlos Rocha, Henry

Bokuniewicz, Clare Robinson, Isaac R. Santos, Hannelore Waska, 2023-01-19 Over recent decades it has become widely recognized that water exchange between coastal aquifers and the ocean is an important component of the hydrologic cycle Twenty years have passed since Willard S Moore Moore 1999 introduced the term subterranean estuary STE to identify those zones within coastal aquifers where fresh groundwater mixes with surface saltwater Like open water estuaries STEs regulate the transfer of chemicals to the sea under the seashore by submarine groundwater discharge SGD This subterranean reactive node in the land ocean exchange pathway has a physical even if elusive structure created by a combination of temporally and spatially variable mass transfer across the groundwater ocean interface and dynamic flow processes Many case studies have shown that SGD is a key material link between coastal watersheds and the sea and indeed spatially resolved budgets of radioactive tracers in shelf waters suggest it is the dominant bulk water flux to coastal zones globally Clearly STE outflow as SGD is a large source of biogeochemically active solutes to shelf seas meaning that elemental budgets for these waters have to be revised in order to account for the new input But how Recognizing the global prevalence and potential environmental and societal impact of SGD numerous attempts to quantify chemical inputs into the ocean through this pathway have been published over the past 40 years. However, the role of the STE in modulating chemical fluxes to coastal waters has been generally oversimplified, making a comprehensive analysis of cause and effect relationships between SGD inputs and ecosystem dynamics merely indicative. Unfortunately, we still lack a mechanistic understanding of the processes that control the interaction between allochthonous chemical delivery and autochthonous recycling in the STE that drive compositional variability of SGD flows. Like that applied to open water estuaries, a general practical and theoretical framework is needed, one that captures the structure and biogeochemistry of STEs and allows more accurate understanding of the chemical composition of SGD outflows while simultaneously providing for a typological basis that provides solid support for extrapolation of local SGD chemical flux measurements to regional and from these to global scale. A comprehensive and critical review of the current state of the art would reveal that progress requires: a) improved variable density groundwater flow models that provide more accurate predictions and insights into the flow, salt transport and mixing dynamics in STEs; b) quantitative understanding of the physicochemical and temporal drivers of saline groundwater seepage and composition; and c) better knowledge of the microbial ecology of STEs and links to marine, freshwater and terrestrial drivers of STE dynamics. Significant research effort has been devoted to addressing these knowledge gaps. It is now time to provide a focused synopsis of these efforts. We propose a combination of cutting edge original research, systematic practice and policy reviews, methods and hypothesis and theory articles tied together by a direction setting perspective analysis to generate a comprehensive and accurate scientific foundation supporting environmental managers, scientists and other stakeholders to assess SGD feedbacks on coastal ecosystem functioning and resilience and implement successful coastal management policies.

The psychological process of stereotyping: Content, forming, internalizing, mechanisms, effects, and interventions Baoshan Zhang, Magdalena Zawisza, Fangfang Wen, Junhua Dang, Fengqing Zhao, 2023-02-06. Stereotype is a pervasive and persistent human tendency that stems from a basic cognitive need to categorize, simplify and process the complex world. This tendency is a precondition for social bias, prejudice and discrimination. Previous research has mainly focused on the content, psychological mechanisms and intervention strategies of negative stereotypes, as well as the stereotype threat phenomenon induced by an evaluative context where a negative in-group stereotype could be confirmed. However, there is a lack of research examining the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes, the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and the interventions, including potential neurocognitive interventions addressing the consequences of negative stereotypes. Furthermore, as per the Behavioral Immune System (BIS) theory, the very presence of a pathogen is likely to increase stereotyping across various social categories, especially in those with a heightened perception of vulnerability to disease. Thus, stereotypes can be enhanced in the context of pathogen exposure, such as the current outbreak of COVID-19 pandemic. People exposed to the virus are more likely to suffer from personal and institutional stereotypes and discrimination, which may cause negative consequences to personal and social well-being. Therefore, in the current context of global COVID-19 pandemic it is necessary to investigate the increasing biases driven by stereotypes regarding viewing pathogens as a threat which holds across different social categories Specifically what constitutes and shapes stereotypes towards people living in epidemic areas What are the consequences of these short term shaped stereotypes What is the relationship between the consequences of these stereotypes and traditional stereotypes i e stereotypes towards race gender and age Will these short term stereotypes interact with traditional stereotypes to exacerbate discrimination or will the recategorization based on the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic allow people to ignore the traditional inferior social identity and in turn to promote social integration among different groups And how can we prevent the increasing tendency of relying on stereotypes and instead increase pro social behaviors in the Covid 19 context The current Research Topic focuses on understanding the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes as well as interventions including potential neurocognitive interventions regarding the consequences of negative stereotypes And we also aim to gather the latest research investigating the broad psychological process of social stereotyping with an emphasis on the implications under the Covid 19 context That is this Research Topic is also interested in the negative stereotypes specific to Covid 19 pandemic as well as relevant preventative interventions aimed at people perceived as at higher Covid 19 exposure risk Theoretical and empirical research from psychology sociology and related fields is welcome Examples of possible themes for manuscripts include but are not limited to the following topics The content of stereotypes Social categorization and discrimination based on stereotypes Traditional stereotypes and their consequences The psychological process of social stereotype formation and internalization The mechanisms including neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and its consequences The stereotype neutralizing interventions including neurocognitive intervention strategies towards negative stereotypes The psychological process of stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The social group categorization and social cohesion during Covid 19 pandemic The interactions between traditional stereotypes towards social groups seen as inferior in the dominant culture and the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The strategies of tackling stereotypes in Covid 19 pandemic
