English as a Language of Teaching and Learning for Community Secondary Schools in Tanzania Elia Shabani Mlilo, Mikael Mwashilindi, 2017-08-07 This book examines the challenges posed by English a foreign language as a language of teaching and learning for community secondary schools in Tanzania in terms of academic performance The book probes the necessity for having two languages of instruction in the Tanzanian educational system While Kiswahili the native language is predominantly understood by the majority of people the discussion in this book indicates that most students in community secondary schools in Tanzania are incompetent in understanding writing listening reading and speaking English a language they use in learning and doing their examinations especially in the early stages of their secondary studies The incompetence in the above mentioned skills is mostly caused by their inability to cope with the abrupt transition in the languages of instruction from their pre primary and primary school study Kiswahili to secondary school study English Moreover most teachers are unable to use the English language as a means to impart knowledge or facilitate learning to their students leading them to code switching and code mixing This book poses a challenge to countries whose students pass through a transition from one language of instruction to another in their educational systems helping them to make appropriate decisions in regard to the appropriate language of teaching and learning
