The Governance Gap Penelope Simons, Audrey Macklin, 2014-07-11 This book explores the persistence of the governance gap with respect to the human rights impacting conduct of transnational extractive corporations operating in zones of weak governance The authors launch their account with a fascinating case study of Talisman Energy s experience in Sudan informed by their own experience as members of the 1999 Canadian Assessment Mission to Sudan Harker Mission Drawing on new governance reflexive law and responsive law theories the authors assess legal and other non binding governance mechanisms that have emerged since that time including the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights They conclude that such mechanisms are incapable of systematically preventing human rights violating behaviour by transnational corporations or of assuring accountability of these actors or recompense for victims of such violations The authors contend that home state regulation while not a silver bullet has a crucial role to play in regulating such conduct They pick up where UN Special Representative John Ruggie s Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights left off and propose an innovative robust and adaptable template for strengthening the regulatory framework of home states Their model draws insights from the theoretical literature leverages existing public private transnational national soft and hard regulatory tools and harnesses the specific strengths of state based governance This book will be of interest to academics policy makers

Challenging Territoriality in Human Rights Law Wouter

Vandenhoe, 2015-06-19 Human rights have traditionally been framed in a vertical perspective with the duties of States confined to their own citizens or residents Interpretations of international human rights treaties tend either to ignore or downplay obligations beyond this territorial space This edited volume challenges the territorial bias of mainstream human rights law It argues that with increased globalisation and the impact of international corporations organisations and non State actors human rights law will become less relevant if it fails to adapt to changing realities in which States are no longer the only leading actor Bringing together leading scholars in the field the book explores potential applications of international human rights law in a multi duty bearer setting The first part of the book examines the current state of the human rights obligations of foreign States corporations and international financial institutions looking in particular at the ways in which they address questions of attribution and distribution of obligations and responsibility The second part is geared towards the identification of common principles that may underpin a human rights legal regime that incorporates obligations of foreign States as well as of non State actors As a marker of important progress in understanding what lies ahead for integrating foreign States and non State actors in the human rights dutybearer regime this book will be of great interest to scholars and practitioners of international human rights law public international law and international relations
