Physical Science Paper March 2013 Memorandum:

30 Years Of Bes Physics - Proceedings Of The Symposium On 30 Years Of Bes Physics Minghan Ye, Changzheng Yuan, 2020-06-05 BES the Beijing Spectrometer began its first groundbreaking physics run thirty years ago in 1989 This is the first high energy physics experiment in China and has been unique throughout the world for its thorough and extended coverage of the tau and charm energy region Since then the BES detector has undergone steady improvements upgrading to BESII in 1998 and to BESIII in 2008 Over the same period the collaboration has expanded from 150 members across 10 institutions in China and the United States to about 500 members across 72 institutions and 15 countries The physics program too has extended from light hadron spectroscopy tau and charm physics to the discovery of exotic charmonium like states precision tests of the Standard Model of particle physics and searches for new physics beyond the Standard Model This special volume collects the proceedings of the symposium held at the Institute of High Energy Physics Beijing in celebration of the 30 year span of achievements and progress at the BES BESII and BESIII experiments Written by many leaders of the BES collaborations these proceedings document the early days of the BES experiments important milestones and the future physics program at BESIII Federal Register ,2013-07 This Changes Everything Naomi Klein, 2014-09-16 The most important book yet from the author of the international bestseller The Shock Doctrine a brilliant explanation of why the climate crisis challenges us to abandon the core free market ideology of our time restructure the global economy and remake our political systems In short either we embrace radical change ourselves or radical changes will be visited upon our physical world The status quo is no longer an option In This Changes Everything Naomi Klein argues that climate change isn't just another issue to be neatly filed between taxes and health care It's an alarm that calls us to fix an economic system that is already failing us in many ways Klein meticulously builds the case for how massively reducing our greenhouse emissions is our best chance to simultaneously reduce gaping inequalities re imagine our broken democracies and rebuild our gutted local economies She exposes the ideological desperation of the climate change deniers the messianic delusions of the would be geoengineers and the tragic defeatism of too many mainstream green initiatives And she demonstrates precisely why the market has not and cannot fix the climate crisis but will instead make things worse with ever more extreme and ecologically damaging extraction methods accompanied by rampant disaster capitalism Klein argues that the changes to our relationship with nature and one another that are required to respond to the climate crisis humanely should not be viewed as grim penance but rather as a kind of gift a catalyst to transform broken economic and cultural priorities and to heal long festering historical wounds And she documents the inspiring movements that have already begun this process communities that are not just refusing to be sites of further fossil fuel extraction but are building the next regeneration based economies right now Can we pull off these changes in time Nothing is certain Nothing except that climate change changes everything And for a very brief time the nature of that change is still up to us The Secure and the Dispossessed Nick Buxton, Ben Hayes, 2015-11-20 While the world's scientists and many of its inhabitants despair at the impact of climate change corporate and military leaders see nothing but opportunities For them melting ice caps mean newly accessible fossil fuels borders to be secured from climate refugees social conflicts to be managed and more failed states in which to intervene They are securing their assets at the expense of the planet and its inhabitants The Secure and the Dispossessed looks at these deadly approaches with a critical eye It also considers the flip side that the legitimacy of the elite is under unprecedented pressure from resistance by communities to resource grabs to those creating new ecological and socially just models for managing our energy food and water Topics covered include geoengineering militarism refugee protection greenwashing and the agricultural crisis among others Adaptation and resilience to a climate changed world is desperately needed but the form it will take will affect all of our futures

A History of Scientific Journals Aileen Fyfe, Noah Moxham, Julie McDougall-Waters, Camilla Mørk Røstvik, 2022-10-03 Modern scientific research has changed so much since Isaac Newton's day it is more professional collaborative and international with more complicated equipment and a more diverse community of researchers Yet the use of scientific journals to report share and store results is a thread that runs through the history of science from Newton's day to ours Scientific journals are now central to academic research and careers Their editorial and peer review processes act as a check on new claims and findings and researchers build their careers on the list of journal articles they have published The journal that reported Newton's optical experiments still exists First published in 1665 and now fully digital the Philosophical Transactions has carried papers by Charles Darwin Dorothy Hodgkin and Stephen Hawking It is now one of eleven journals published by the Royal Society of London Unrivalled insights from the Royal Society's comprehensive archives have enabled the authors to investigate more than 350 years of scientific journal publishing The editorial management business practices and financial difficulties of the Philosophical Transactions and its sibling Proceedings reveal the meaning and purpose of journals in a changing scientific community At a time when we are surrounded by calls to reform the academic publishing system it has never been more urgent that we understand its history
