The radio receiver will stop if it is not plugged in. Receiver is subject to the following two conditions: 1) The device may not receive radio broadcasts, and 2) the device may accept any interference received, including interference that may cause reception quality.

Caution: Changes in radiofrequency or magnetic exposure may be partly responsible for equipment used and the user's ability to operate the equipment.

NOTE: The equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. The equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to other communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment to a different power outlet or a different branch of the circuit.
- Consult the dealer or a qualified technician for help.

The above measures may not eliminate the interference.
