Exemplification and Categorization Alessandra Barotto, 2021-08-02 The book aims to examine the relationship between exemplification and categorization using linguistic data from Japanese to better understand how people create and communicate conceptual categories in real life situations of the notion of ad hoc categories In the book exemplification is defined in functional terms as a process through which a speaker signals that a given entity should be construed as representative of a larger category of similar entities The status of example can thus be encoded by means of dedicated analytical markers that overtly signal the exemplifying relation e.g. for example but also by making explicit reference to the larger category from which the examples have been selected Through a case study on four Japanese exemplifying markers ya nado tari toka this book aims to understand i how examples are used and encoded by speakers to make reference to conceptual categories ii what types of categories speakers can create and communicate by means of exemplification iii how the relationship between exemplification and categorization can be used by speakers to achieve specific discourse effects such as vagueness and politeness

L. Polkowski, 2024-08-31 First fully illustrated presentation of a large but generally little known assemblage of petroglyphic rock art from the Western Desert of Egypt Rock art in Dakhleh was produced for perhaps as long as 10 millennia resulting in the formation of hundreds of sites displaying thousands of images In some places petroglyphs form a true melting pot of iconographic creations elsewhere only isolated depictions appear on rock surfaces Various rock art traditions from prehistoric through pharaonic Graeco Roman and mediaeval have all added to a tremendous variety of petroglyphs their formal traits and subject matter This book is the first ever monograph on Dakhleh Oasis rock art providing both an introduction to the versatile topic as well as an overview of the current state of research It is designed as a collection of essays that deal with specific aspects of the research The reader is offered here not only old and new documentation much of it previously unpublished but also a great deal of innovative interpretation All chapters although devoted to different case studies revolve around an all encompassing concept of landscape of motion It is argued here that rock art regardless of its date of origin was and is always involved in certain dynamic contexts In Dakhleh the majority of petroglyphs especially during historical periods were produced in spatial contexts of paths and routes and thus by people on the move It is argued here that various kinds of movement were often a significant factor contributing to the meaning and function of the images The intention of this book is to explore and unveil such contexts which may prove somewhat elusive if we focus our analyses exclusively on the representational aspects of rock art Such a type of integration of rock art landscape and motion is the major aim of this work and has hopefully been achieved by merging perspectives and concepts derived from Egyptology Anthropology and other social sciences
