Section 1 Guided Review Japan:

Japanese War Crimes and Related Topics: A Guide to Records at the National Archives United States. National Archives and Records Administration, 2007. This finding aid will help researchers interested in Japanese war crimes war criminals and war crimes trials to navigate the vast holdings of the U S National Archives and Records Administration at College Park NARA. It will also be useful to anyone interested in military intelligence political diplomatic economic financial social and cultural activities in the Far East during 1931-1951 as well as to those searching for information regarding Allied prisoners of war the organization functions and activities of American and Allied agencies and the Japanese occupation of countries and the American occupation of Japan. While not aimed at researchers interested in the strategic and tactical military and naval history of the war in the Far East this finding aid may nevertheless be useful to those with such interests if only to identify record groups and series of records that may bear on those topics. This finding aid covers records from over twenty record groups and includes materials declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act of 2000 P L 106 567 as well as records that were never classified and those declassified before the passage of the Disclosure Act. Because the process of identifying declassifying accessioning and processing of records under the Act is taking place as this finding is being compiled late arriving records may not be identified in this finding aid. Researchers should consult the IWG Web site <http://www.archives.gov/iwg> for a complete and up to date list of records declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act. Federal agencies involved in the identification and declassification of relevant classified records ascertained that there were relatively few pertinent records that were still classified. Most relevant records were either never classified or were declassified decades before the Act and were already in NARA's custody. While this finding aid's coverage is broad it is not comprehensive. Researchers may find other relevant series of records within the record groups mentioned or not mentioned. Researchers are encouraged to use other finding aids and consult with NARA staff to locate records of interest. In addition the National Archives at College Park holds nontextual records such as still photographs and motion pictures that researchers may want to examine. Other NARA facilities hold many records and donated material related to World War II including records related to the subjects covered in this finding aid. This is particularly true of the Franklin D Roosevelt the Harry S Truman and the Dwight D Eisenhower. Think of archives as vast mountain ranges of records with the archivists guiding the expeditions. Explorations on familiar well trodden paths produce new perspectives when examined with fresh eyes and imagination.

A Field Guide to British Rivers George Heritage, Andy Large, David Milan, 2021-10-13 Temperate rivers are influenced by many factors including geology climate soils sediment type flow as well as human activity The complex interactions of the non anthropogenic controlling factors have led to a wonderful diversity of river type throughout the British Isles Sadly almost all rivers in the UK have suffered significant and long lasting modification by unsympathetic management that has all but destroyed this variety creating watercourses that are simplified conduits for water and sediment designed primarily to drain the land and reduce flood risk This volume aims to help reverse this illustrating using over 200 images and descriptions this variety of rivers in Britain highlighting the many forms that temperate river systems take and providing an accessible summary of the underlying river science knowledge base A Field Guide to British Rivers covers the full range of upland and lowland channel types and describes the full variety of substrate conditions from bedrock through boulder cobble and gravel to silt dominated systems The authors describe examples gathered from their extensive research and practical experience working with rivers throughout mainland Britain and set those examples in their wider landscape context to exemplify the natural functioning of temperate river types This book offers a practical and contextualised guide to contribute to efforts towards the sympathetic and sustainable restoration and re naturalisation of degraded channels in the UK Offering a unique viewpoint of both the underpinning science and the practicalities of river management A Field Guide to British Rivers is an essential a stand alone guide for anyone involved in river restoration and management as well as for those simply interested in rivers in general Written as a field guide to demonstrate practical examples of river types and to highlight the pressures they experience and their often parlous condition this book is intended to better inform both river management approaches and the policy necessary to achieve this Fundamentally the authors seek to demonstrate how the hydrological geomorphological and ecological functions of rivers and their catchments are inexorably intertwined and together how they generate and maintain rivers as dynamic entities □□□□□□□□□□,1907      Energy Research Abstracts ,1990
