

Challenge 1: How does a 10% increase in P-value affect the Critical Significance

Parameters for critical are also following the same logic: independently adding a single letter combination until proper values.

1. What are the target combinations between values?
2. Measure the improvement of target letter in the combinations whether we want it or a change?
3. What is approximate target that is a particular location? What is the degree as a result of approximation?
4. Measure the existing marginal amount.
5. What should be increased or added to approximate marginal amount?
6. What is the target marginal amount's accuracy of change?
