Section 1: The New Frontier

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

1. The Election of 1960

1. The election of 1960 was the first time that both parties used television to reach voters. The election was very close, with Kennedy winning by a narrow margin. Kennedy's victory was due to his charismatic personality and his effective use of television.
2. Kennedy's victory was a turning point in American history. It marked the beginning of the New Frontier era, which was characterized by Kennedy's bold leadership and his commitment to social and economic reform.

2. Kennedy's New Frontier

3. Kennedy's New Frontier was a series of programs and policies that aimed to address the challenges of the 1960s. These programs included the creation of the Peace Corps, the establishment of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.
4. Kennedy's New Frontier was also characterized by his leadership in the space program. He believed that the United States should lead the world in space exploration, and he supported the development of the Apollo program, which culminated in the Apollo 11 mission in 1969.
5. Kennedy's New Frontier was also marked by his commitment to social and economic reform. He supported the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which outlawed discrimination on the basis of race, and he supported the creation of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which established the War on Poverty.

3. The Great Society

6. The Great Society was a series of programs and policies that aimed to address the challenges of the 1960s. These programs included the creation of the Medicare and Medicaid programs, the establishment of the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the passage of the Clean Air Act of 1963.
7. The Great Society was also characterized by its commitment to social and economic reform. It aimed to eliminate poverty and to create a more equitable society. The Great Society programs were funded by the federal government, and they had a significant impact on the lives of millions of Americans.

The New Frontier Investors Jagdeep Singh Bachher, Adam D. Dixon, Ashby H. B. Monk, 2016-06-29 Who holds the power in financial markets For many the answer would probably be the large investment banks big asset managers and hedge funds These are the organizations that are in the media's spotlight and whose leaders and employees command outsized salaries and bonuses They are the supposed leading edge of global finance and their power seems almost absolute even as questions abound about their social and economic utility But more and more asset owners are confronting the status quo the power to exact high fees and the focus on the short term The New Frontier Investors chronicles the rise of this new group of long horizon asset owners that includes some of the world's largest pension funds sovereign wealth funds and endowments These asset owners are driving the business of asset management to a new frontier by retaking responsibility of the end to end management of their investment portfolios and by re conceptualizing investment decision making The lessons illustrated in The New Frontier Investors fly in the face of conventional wisdom which has it that these asset owners are at a disadvantage to the private sector fund managers and other service providers These asset owners are supposedly not able to attract talent nor do they have the organizational capabilities to compete That many are located far from the markets in which they invest only exacerbates the problem But this is incorrect This expanding group of asset owners is learning how to make the most of their scale and long time horizons finding new ways to attract talent to collaborate and to build greater alignment with the users of capital They are not at a disadvantage They are at an advantage The New Frontier Investors is essential reading for anyone wanting to see a change in global financial markets and the professionalization of asset owners worldwide from public pension funds and sovereign wealth funds to foundations and endowments It is thus required reading for the senior executives and employees working in the field of beneficiary institutional investment as well as government officials and others that have a stake in the design and governance of beneficiary financial institutions and long term capital
