Lesson 7.1 The National Judiciary

Key Terms

Article III of the U.S. Constitution creates three branches: the executive branch, the legislative branch, and the judicial branch. The judicial branch is the branch of government that interprets the law and settles disputes. It is the branch of government that is responsible for the interpretation of the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

Supreme Court is the highest court in the United States. It is the final authority on the interpretation of the Constitution and the laws of the United States. It is the court of last resort, meaning that its decisions are final and cannot be appealed.

Justices are the members of the Supreme Court. They are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. There are currently nine Justices on the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice is the head of the Supreme Court. He or she is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The current Chief Justice is John Roberts.

Associate Justices are the other members of the Supreme Court. There are currently eight Associate Justices.

Lower Courts are the courts below the Supreme Court. They include the Federal District Courts and the Federal Appellate Courts.

State Courts are the courts in each state. They are responsible for the interpretation of state law.

Constitution is the supreme law of the United States. It is the document that defines the structure and powers of the federal government.

Law is a system of rules that governs the behavior of individuals and organizations.

Justice is the act of interpreting the law and settling disputes.

Dispute is a conflict or disagreement between two or more parties.

Check and Balance is the system of checks and balances that ensures that no branch of government becomes too powerful. It is a system of mutual oversight and control between the three branches of government.
