Before concluding, let's summarize some of the key points of the report and the authors' conclusions. The authors argue that the current system of international law is inadequate to address the challenges of the 21st century. They call for a new system of international law that is based on the principles of justice, equity, and human rights. They also call for a new system of international law that is based on the principles of democracy, transparency, and accountability. The authors believe that these changes are necessary to ensure that the international system is able to address the challenges of the future.
