Reading-to-Write Linda Flower, Victoria Stein, John Ackerman, Margaret J. Kantz, Kathleen McCormick, Wayne C. Peck, 1990-09-20 The Social and Cognitive Studies in Writing and Literacy Series is devoted to books that bridge research theory and practice exploring social and cognitive processes in writing and expanding our knowledge of literacy as an active constructive process as students move from high school to college This descriptive study of reading to write examines a critical point in every college student's academic performance when he or she is faced with the task of reading a source integrating personal ideas and creating an individual text with a self defined purpose Offering an unusually comprehensive view of this process the authors chart a group of freshmen as they study and write in their dormitories recording their think aloud strategies for reading writing and revising their interpretation of the task and their broader social cultural and contextual understanding of college writing Flower Stein and colleagues convincingly conclude that the legacy of schooling in general makes the transition to college difficult and more important that the assumptions students hold and the strategies they use in undertaking this task play a significant role in their academic performance Embracing a broad range of perspectives from rhetoric composition literacy research literary and cultural theory and cognitive psychology this rigorous analysis treats reading to write as both a cognitive and social process It will interest researchers and theoreticians in rhetoric and writing teachers working with students in transition from high school to college and educators involved in the links between cognition and the social process

Getting Personal Nancy K. Miller, 2014-06-03 In the era of identity politics whose is the I of cultural criticism And what does the invention of an autobiographical persona have to do with contemporary theory In Getting Personal Nancy K Miller reflects upon the ways in which contingencies of identity and location shape the writing of academic argument and the living of an academic life Getting Personal explores the new territory of feminist cultural studies and its connections to literary interpretation The book is organized around a number of academic scenes in which Miller analyses the stakes of feminist critical performance The focus on occasions from the conference to the seminar to the professional colloquium produces an autobiographical perspective on the mini drama of institutional politics whether faculty struggles over the canon in elite universities or student strivings for self authorization in large urban ones Writing as a feminist critic Miller describes the dilemmas of a responsible pedagogic practice the contradictory demands of authority and complicity for a feminist teacher of literature Getting Personal examines the rhetorical strategies of a feminism traversed by internal debates over its own self representations Working through and among quotations of voices that might otherwise not address each other Miller assesses a crisis and offers a project for moving on
