ecosystems Applying quantitative methods to real world data from shared vehicle systems generates insights into the nature of demand and supply Combining it with an analysis of empirical research on vehicle relocation algorithms builds the foundation for two artifact designs The first artifact enables the development and simulation based evaluation of operation modes for vehicle fleets The second artifact enables artificial intelligence based decision support for the vehicle rebalancing problem The insights are finally incorporated and generalized to a nascent design theory on data enabled operational decision making in the context of smart sustainable mobility environments The findings have multifaceted implications for researchers concerned with data enabled value creation in Green IS shared economy and smart mobility and business analytics and data science Furthermore guidance for fleet providers to improve system attractiveness and for society to experience the potential amount of vehicle access without personal ownership is provided Catalog of Copyright Entries.
