Knowledge for Consumers: Reports of Campaigns and Research 2008-2010, 2010 Information Program grantee Consumers International has released the results of a global survey designed to expose the obstacles consumers face in gaining access to education and cultural materials. The survey was conducted in 13 languages covering 15 000 consumers across 24 countries. The survey found that the biggest barriers that consumers face in accessing copyright works are those created by copyright law. Even so, consumers around the world will choose original copyright works over pirated copies provided that they are available at an affordable price. While borrowing from libraries and other cultural institutions provided a viable alternative for some consumers priced out of original copyrighted works, the survey found that particularly in developing countries access to libraries is limited and the works they carry are few. Although the authors of the survey saw copyleft initiatives like Open Educational Resources and Free and Open Source Software as great ways to help consumers vault access barriers, they concluded that governments needed to act to address consumers' needs for lower cost original materials to buy, borrow, and access online. The survey forms the first two chapters of Consumers International's new report Access to Knowledge for Consumers: Reports of Campaigns and Research 2008-2010. Imagine gambling without loss, love without heartbreak, sex without exposure, experience without risk. Welcome to the fascinating world of online virtual reality, the land of invented places and populations that is entered and inhabited every week by nearly fifty million people worldwide. Each participant creates a virtual body, works at virtual jobs, and makes virtual friends and family. In Second Lives, Tim Guest, an internationally acclaimed young journalist, takes us on a revelatory journey through the electronic looking glass as he investigates one of the most bizarre phenomena of the twenty-first century. With the click of a mouse, you can select eye color, face shape, height; you can even give yourself wings. Your character or avatar can build houses, make and sell works of art, earn money, get married, and divorced. In this fascinating and groundbreaking book, Guest meets people who found meaningful love and friendship despite never having met in person, catches up with the companies that have used virtual worlds to make big money, investigates the U.S. military's massive online global model that trains soldiers to fight anyone anywhere, and travels all the way to gaming-crazed Korea to get a taste for just how big this phenomenon really is At first glance these new computer generated places seem free from trouble and sorrow But Guest examines the dark side of this technology too including the online criminals who plague imaginary worlds from cyber mafiosos and prostitutes to real hackers and terrorists It seems that one cannot escape greed corruption and human weakness even inside a computer screen Are these virtual worlds a way to enhance life or to escape it Guest explores this question personally as he lets himself be transported into myriad parallel universes By turns provocative inspiring and disturbing Second Lives is a crucial book for this millennium After all real life is so twentieth century Advance praise for Second Lives Tim Guest is a young writer with the literary goods My Life in Orange his hit memoir of growing up in a commune looked at his past his riveting new book Second Lives looks at our future the world of virtual reality and the spellbound people who inhabit it The book is some kind of revelation by turns compelling chilling and illuminating Curious intelligent offbeat and artful Guest is at the beginning of a big career John Lahr senior drama critic The New Yorker author of Prick Up Your Ears The Biography of Joe Orton Praise from England for Second Lives An anthropological adventure but also Guest's personal voyage a fascinating portrait of rainbow landscapes and their inhabitants Time Out London Rich and colourful an important mapping of a new social frontier The Guardian Remarkably timely The Sunday Telegraph Astonishing The Sunday Times Consumer Reports ,1969 Handbook of Research on Digital Media and Advertising: User Generated Content Consumption Eastin, Matthew S., Daugherty, Terry, Burns, Neal M., 2010-07-31 This book bridges the gap between professional and academic perceptions of advertising in new media environments defining the evolution of consumerism within the context of media change and establishing the practical issues related to consumer power shifts from supplier to user Provided by publisher Virtual Social Identity and Consumer Behavior ,2009 Life Insurance Sold to the Poor Elizabeth D.
