Second International Handbook On Globalisation Education And Policy Research:

Second International Handbook on Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda, 2015-01-06 This handbook presents a global overview of developments in education and policy change during the last decade. It provides an accessible practical and comparative source of current research that examines the intersecting and diverse discourses of this important issue. Divided into two parts, the handbook first examines globalisation and education policy reforms, including coverage of main trends as well as specific policy issues such as gender equity, minorities, and human rights. Next, the handbook offers a comparative perspective that evaluates the ambivalent and problematic relationship between globalisation, the state, and education reforms globally. It features coverage on curricula issues and education reforms in schools around the world, as well as the curriculum in the global culture. Now more than ever, there is a need to understand and analyse both the intended and the unintended effects of globalisation on economic competitiveness, educational systems, the state, and relevant policy changes, all as they affect individuals, the higher education sector, schools, policy makers, and powerful corporate organisations across the globe. By examining some of the major education policy issues, particularly in the light of recent shifts in education and policy research, this handbook offers readers a comprehensive picture of the impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms. It will serve as a vital sourcebook of ideas for researchers, practitioners, and policy makers in education.

Fourth International Handbook of Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda, 2024-12-04 This handbook provides a global synthesis of ongoing research in education and policy change during the last decade. It examines discourses of globalisation from the perspectives of the global North and global South. Major theories of globalisation and education policy reforms employed in the handbook are classified into two broad categories: structuralist and post-structuralist. The handbook, while examining the impact of global trends in different societies, cultures, and educational settings, attempts to synthesise different meta-theories of globalisation and their impact on societies and educational systems. It discusses the continued interaction of global, national, and local forces and influences, especially the importance of standards and quality-driven education reforms, the need to overcome inequality of access to quality schools, and aims at providing quality education for all students. In addition, the impact of neo-liberal ideology on education is examined in terms of its impact on ongoing standards-driven education reforms globally. The handbook analyses neo-liberalism in education and its focus on increasing global competitiveness, accountability, efficiency, quality standards, driven policy reforms, and educational stratification. The impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms is a strategically significant issue for us all. The unifying conceptual framework used in the handbook to critique the strategic significance of globalisation is grounded in discourse CDA and critical theory. The work offers the latest findings concerning major issues in education and policy directions such as global social and economic inequality, neo-liberal standard-driven education and policy reforms, performing schools in the performing culture, education for human rights and social justice, new perspectives on education, for
