Section 23 Climate Changes:

Agricultural and Climate Change Adaptation Law in Africa Habib Sani Usman, 2025-02-17 This book presents an analysis of climate change and agricultural laws in Kenya Nigeria and South Africa in order to determine whether they adequately addressed the concept of agricultural adaptation Agriculture is one of the sectors of the economy that is contributing to climate change and at the same time the sector is heavily impacted by climate change Therefore agricultural adaptation is required Focusing on three countries this book provides a novel comparative examination of how and to what extent the law promotes agriculture focused adaptation in these countries The role of the law in addressing issues such as water management strategies soil conservation methods and crop production methods is discussed This book identifies gaps in the regulatory frameworks for agricultural adaptation and highlights the lack of adaptive capacity of African agriculture due to weak or non existing legal frameworks It discusses ways to remedy these gaps through specific on farm adaptation strategies legislative amendments to consolidate all relevant national climate change related policies and laws with agricultural policies and laws that have relevant provisions on adaptation as medium term solutions and the development of a specific framework law for agriculture focused adaptation incorporating essential agricultural adaptation strategies could perhaps be enacted as long term solutions to the regulatory gaps This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of law climate change food and agriculture sustainable development and African studies

Combating Climate Change with Section 115 of the Clean Air Act Michael Burger, 2020-10-30 Editor Michael Burger brings together a comprehensive assessment of how one statutory provision Section 115 of the Clean Air Act International Air Pollution provides the executive branch of the U S government with the authority procedures and mechanisms to work with the states and private sector to take national climate action

Corporate Regulation for Climate Change Mitigation in Africa Kikelomo O. Kila, 2022-09-08 This book critically analyses the prospects of overhauling the legal framework of climate change regulation of corporations in African state It adopts the dilute interventionism regulatory framework to tackle the culture of regulatory resistance by corporations in Africa Over the course of this volume Kikelomo O Kila critiques the climate change legal framework in all 53 African states and conducts an in depth case study of the two largest economies in Africa Nigeria and South Africa to highlight the commonality of the problems in Africa and the potential for the dilute interventionism paradigm to significantly address these problems The book establishes why African states should directly intervene through legislative mechanisms to compel corporations to incorporate climate change mitigation in their business activities It proposes that this direct intervention should comprise a blend of prescriptive and facilitative mechanisms structured in a dilute interventionism regulatory model Overall this volume argues that implementing this model requires the institution of a strong and independent regulator with a veto firewall protection system that guarantees its de facto independence from government and external influences Corporate Regulation for Climate Change Mitigation in Africa will be of great interest to climate change stakeholders at the international regional and domestic levels policymakers regulatory practitioners and legal experts on corporate regulation It will also be an insightful resource for students and scholars of climate change and environmental law policy and governance

Making and Changing Law in Small Jurisdictions Caroline Morris, 2024-03-12 This book puts the spotlight on a different and neglected aspect of law drafting and reform the question of size Specifically how does the size of a jurisdiction affect its ability to make and change its laws Some of the challenges affecting small jurisdictions include a lack of resources and paucity of policy drafting capacity the pressures and pull from sources outside the jurisdiction e g international bodies or NGOs larger states treaty commitments a vulnerability to domestic capture e g criminal elements big local businesses strong domestic lobby groups weak bad governance e g laws or institutions which themselves do not encourage or promote good governance reflection and reform the legacy of colonial legal systems and their interaction with indigenous or customary laws and struggles to comply with constitutional norms such as accountability and transparency Despite these difficulties small jurisdictions also have certain advantages when it comes to making and reforming law they can be flexible and creative they can legislate very quickly if the political will is there and there is strong informal formal accountability in a small jurisdiction This edited collection explores law reform and law drafting in small jurisdictions through the themes of sovereignty the impact of colonialism and legal plurality the challenges of harmonising laws at regional and international levels and constitutional reform Of use to researchers and practitioners alike

Food and Nutrition Security in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Vol. 2 Adam E. Ahmed, Jameel M. Al-Khayri, Azharia A. Elbushra, 2024-01-01 Food and nutrition security is a major concern for Saudi Arabia and the surrounding regions due to the range of challenges they face. These challenges include limited agricultural resources, low self-sufficiency in key food staples, climate change, and high levels of food loss and waste. This book aims to evaluate and analyze the current situation and future prospects of food and nutrition security in Saudi Arabia. Additionally, it seeks to analyze and assess the roles and functions of various institutions related to food security, providing a deeper understanding of the complex problems associated with it. Furthermore, this book aligns with Kingdom Vision 2030, which includes a set of strategies and programs focused on agriculture, food, and water security. It also aligns with the institutional identity of King Faisal University's Food Security and Environmental Sustainability. The book consists of four volumes; Volume 2 is entitled Macroeconomic Policy Implications on Food and Nutrition Security. It covers various areas including food price, loss and waste, processing, finance, trade, investment, quality, and safety, consumption patterns, climate change, early warning systems, nutrition, institutions, oil revenue, and the significance of date, palm, and Hassawi rice, genetically modified food, and edible insects in ensuring food and nutritional security. This book is highly significant for professionals, researchers, policymakers, and entrepreneurs involved in food and nutrition security in Saudi Arabia, the Gulf Cooperation Council, and various national and international organizations. It offers a comprehensive analysis of the obstacles and possibilities in ensuring food and nutrition security, as well as presenting practical approaches to address these issues. Additionally, graduate students studying in fields related to food and nutrition security will benefit from this book.

Valuing Climate Change Mitigation Sonia Akter, Jeff Bennett, 2012-01-01 This enriching book presents a holistic overview of climate change uncertainty and offers a number of pathways that could be used to account for such uncertainties in the stated preference valuation research. It shows that uncertainty plays an important role in determining the values of climate change mitigation benefits, and as the authors say, "If this uncertainty remains unaccounted for, there is a potential danger that the estimated economic values will misrepresent social preferences for public policy interventions to manage environmental externalities." Valuing Climate Change Mitigation discusses the role of uncertainty in valuing the benefits of climate change mitigation policies using contingent valuation and choice experiments techniques. It treats climate change using three dimensions of uncertainty: scenario, policy, and preference. Conceptual frameworks are advanced to account simultaneously for these various dimensions of uncertainty. The authors then explore the impact of introducing these uncertainties into benefit estimates for the Australian Carbon Pollution Reduction Scheme. The authors present frameworks to account for multiple uncertainty in environmental decision analysis that will prove invaluable for academics and students in the fields of environmental economics and management. Policy makers will also gain invaluable methodological insight.
